

NOVEMBER

WHOLE No. 1298

The Senatorship.
LETTER FROM HON. WM. L.
YANCEY.
London, Aug. 20, 1861.
SAMUEL G. REED, Esq., Dear Sir:—
Yours of the 22nd, duly received. I rejoiced at receiving even so brief a note from you, and am learning from you generally satisfactory as respects an edited collection of affairs in our city. You say that my enemies deny I am a candidate. What right to my enemies to speak for me or my views? You wish me to give friends authority over my own name to speak for me. Well, all I can say is —that public opinion is a law with on those who have to choose, your vote from approved candidates. This I can say for me, that if the Legislature elect me, I shall consider it an honor to serve the State, and will gratefully accept the post.

My views as to the Senatorship were given to the General Assembly. They will undergo no change.

If I cannot finish my business here, I shall not be honorably recalled here, on the 1st of January, I shall ask the Legislature to recall me. I came here reluctantly at this request—at great personal and pecuniary sacrifice—which cannot continue longer than then, so long as the country has so many able men to supply the place to be made vacant by my retirement.

You understand me I hope. I do mean to press myself on unwilling their support.

Yours truly,
W. L. YANCEY.

---

GLEANINGS.

---

Gen. Butler every month deposits his in the Treasury for the 7,500 notes, made a 2,500 deposit at Bethel.

Gen. Tushman announces himself in favor of the reelection of President Farnham. Vice President Stephens, believing "that their removal at this crisis of the country would lead to the most disastrous consequences."

The Fort Smith City Council, says Memphis Appeal, has ordered all schools to be closed, in consequence the prevalence of small-pox in that

A bill has been introduced in the Tennessee Legislature to prevent bankers and brokers from charging more than one cent premium for gold or silver. The bill to regulate the winds would be effective.

M. S. Paole is announced as a candidate for the Confederate Congress in the Tennessee District.

"You look like drink on a pale horse," said Harry to a toper who was pale and pointed. "I don't know anything about that," said the toper, "but I am fit on pale brandy."

Messrs. J. O. Griffith, Camp & Co., representing the Nashville Union, Nashville Patriot and Athens Post, have been elected State printers for two years, the Tennessee Legislature.

A man in getting out of an omnibus, made use of the two rows of knees as a ladder to steady himself, at which the ladies took offense and one of them retorted, "a perfect savage!" "True," said a wag inside, "he belongs to the w-knee-tribe."

Andrew C. Washington Keith and other Cleveland, in the Tennessee legislature, who are serving in the Federal army in Kentucky, have been declared vacant.

Lincoln's Secretary of War is becoming impatient with the expense of music for the army. It is said to amount already to a sum that will make a millions a year.

Robert J. Ross, a well-known Pennsylvania politician, has been elected at Philadelphia, died at Harrisburg the 30th ult.

Timothy Callahan, accused of the murder of Michael Jones, a Texas soldier, who was killed on the 30th June last, has been discharged from custody, no charges being found against him.

By the new mail arrangement lately adopted, letters leave Richmond at 5 A. M., arrive there at 5, 30, P. M., in time distribution the same evening.

The Montgomery Mail is informed that four steamers are running from New Orleans to Apalachicola, bringing all cotton from that point to the inter-louisings. There are about $900 at Apalachicola.

The returns of the Mississippi election,

The New York Tribune asserts that the Herald-Keeper Secession flag showed up in hundreds, ready to hang on the first important reversal to the "Reaganomics" crisis.

MURRAY

es, (September)

Abbott, J. H. at whole sale, ments with manufactu at 1875

1876

1877

1878

1879

1880

1881

1882

1883

1884

1885

1886

1887

1888

1889

1890

1891

1892

1893

1894

1895

1896

1897

1898

1899

1900

1901

1902

1903

1904

1905

1906

1907

1908

1909

1910

1911

1912

1913

1914

1915

1916

1917

1918

1919

1920

1921

1922

1923

1924

1925

1926

1927

1928

1929

1930

1931

1932

1933

1934

1935

1936

1937

1938

1939

1940

1941

1942

1943

1944

1945

1946

1947

1948

1949

1950

1951

1952

1953

1954

1955

1956

1957

1958

1959

1960

1961

1962

1963

1964

1965

1966

1967

1968

1969

1970

1971

1972

1973

1974

1975

1976

1977

1978

1979

1980

1981

1982

1983

1984

1985

1986

1987

1988

1989

1990

1991

1992

1993

1994

1995

1996

1997

1998

1999

2000

2001

2002

2003

2004

2005

2006

2007

2008

2009

2010

2011

2012

2013

2014

2015

2016

2017

2018

2019

2020

2021

2022

2023

2024

2025

2026

2027

2028

2029

2030

2031

2032

2033

2034

2035

2036

2037

2038

2039

2040

2041

2042

2043

2044

2045

2046

2047

2048

2049

2050

2051

2052

2053

2054

2055

2056

2057

2058

2059

2060

2061

2062

2063

2064

2065

2066

2067

2068

2069

2070

2071

2072

2073

2074

2075

2076

2077

2078

2079

2080

2081

2082

2083

2084

2085

2086

2087

2088

2089

2090

2091

2092

2093

2094

2095

2096

2097

2098

2099

2100

2101

2102

2103

2104

2105

2106

2107

2108

2109

2110

2111

2112

2113

2114

2115

2116

2117

2118

2119

2120

2121

2122

2123

2124

2125

2126

2127

2128

2129

2130

2131

2132

2133

2134

2135

2136

2137

2138

2139

2140

2141

2142

2143

2144

2145

2146

2147

2148

2149

2150

2151

2152

2153

2154

2155

2156

2157

2158

2159

2160

2161

2162

2163

2164

2165

2166

2167

2168

2169

2170

2171

2172

2173

2174

2175

2176

2177

2178

2179

2180

2181

2182

2183

2184

2185

2186

2187

2188

2189

2190

2191

2192

2193

2194

2195

2196

2197

2198

2199

2200

2201

2202

2203

2204

2205

2206

2207

2208

2209

2210

2211

2212

2213

2214

2215

2216

2217

2218

2219

2220

2221

2222

2223

2224

2225

2226

2227

2228

2229

2230

2231

2232

2233

2234

2235

2236

2237

2238

2239

2240

2241

2242

2243

2244

2245

2246

2247

2248

2249

2250

2251

2252

2253

2254

2255

2256

2257

2258

2259

2260

2261

2262

2263

2264

2265

2266

2267

2268

2269

2270

2271

2272

2273

2274

2275

2276

2277

2278

2279

2280

2281

2282

2283

2284

2285

2286

2287

2288

2289

2290

2291

2292

2293

2294

2295

2296

2297

2298

2299

2300

2301

2302

2303

2304

2305

2306

2307

2308

2309

2310

2311

2312

2313

2314

2315

2316

2317

2318

2319

2320

2321

2322

2323

2324

2325

2326

Figure 1. The effect of the concentration of the Agrobacterium suspension on the transformation efficiency of Agrobacterium strains. The concentration of the Agrobacterium suspension was 10<sup>6</sup> cells/ml (○), 10<sup>7</sup> cells/ml (□), 10<sup>8</sup> cells/ml (△), and 10<sup>9</sup> cells/ml (◇). The error bars represent the standard deviation.

22
 23
 24
 25
 26
 27
 28
 29
 30 31 32
 33 34 35
 36 37
 38
 39 40
 41 42
 43
 44
 45
 46
 47 48
 49
 50
 51
 52
 53
 54
 55
 56
 57
 58
 59
 60
 61
 62
 63
 64
 65
 66
 67
 68
 69
 70
 71
 72
 73
 74
 75
 76
 77
 78
 79 80
 81
 82
 83
 84
 85
 86
 87
 88 89
 90
 91
 92
 93
 94
 95
 96
 97
 98
 99 100
 101
 102
 103
 104
 105
 106
 107
 108
 109
 110
 111
 112
 113
 114
 115
 116
 117
 118
 119
 120
 121
 122
 123
 124
 125
 126
 127
 128
 129
 130
 131
 132
 133
 134
 135
 136
 137
 138
 139
 140
 141 142
 143
 144
 145
 146
 147
 148
 149
 150
 151
 152
 153
 154 155
 156
 157
 158
 159
 160
 161
 162
 163
 164
 165
 166
 167
 168
 169
 170
 171
 172 173
 174
 175
 176
 177
 178
 179
 180
 181
 182
 183
 184
 185
 186
 187
 188
 189
 190
 191
 192
 193
 194
 195
 196
 197
 198
 199
 200 201
 202
 203
 204
 205
 206 207
 208
 209
 210
 211
 212 213 214
 215
 216
 217
 218
 219
 220
 221
 222
 223
 224
 225
 226
 227
 228
 229
 230
 231
 232
 233
 234 235
 236
 237 238 239
 240
 241
 242
 243
 244
 245
 246
 247
 248
 249
 250 251
 252
 253 254
 255
 256
 257
 258
 259
 260
 261
 262
 263 264
 265
 266
 267
 268 269
 270
 271
 272
 273
 274
 275
 276
 277
 278
 279
 280
 281
 282
 283 284
 285
 286
 287
 288
 289
 290
 291
 292
 293
 294
 295
 296
 297
 298
 299
 300
 301 302
 303
 304
 305
 306
 307
 308
 309
 310
 311
 312
 313
 314
 315
 316
 317
 318
 319
 320
 321
 322
 323
 324
 325
 326
 327
 328
 329
 330
 331
 332
 333
 334
 335
 336
 337
 338
 339
 340
 341
 342
 343
 344
 345
 346 347
 348
 349
 350 351
 352
 353
 354
 355
 356
 357
 358
 359
 360
 361
 362
 363
 364 365
 366
 367
 368
 369
 370
 371
 372
 373
 374
 375
 376
 377
 378
 379
 380
 381
 382
 383
 384
 385
 386
 387
 388
 389
 390
 391
 392
 393
 394
 395
 396
 397
 398
 399
 400
 401
 402
 403
 404
 405
 406
 407
 408
 409
 410
 411
 412
 413
 414
 415
 416
 417
 418
 419
 420
 421
 422
 423 424
 425
 426
 427
 428 429
 430
 431
 432 433
 434
 435
 436
 437
 438
 439
 440
 441
 442
 443
 444
 445
 446
 447
 448
 449
 450
 451
 452
 453
 454
 455
 456
 457 458
 459
 460
 461 462
 463
 464
 465
 466
 467
 468 469
 470
 471
 472
 473
 474
 475
 476
 477
 478
 479
 480
 481
 482
 483
 484
 485
 486
 487
 488
 489
 490
 491
 492
 493
 494
 495
 496
 497
 498
 499 500
 501 502
 503
 504
 505
 506
 507
 508
 509
 510
 511
 512
 513
 514
 515
 516
 517
 518
 519
 520
 521 522
 523
 524
 525
 526
 527
 528
 529
 530 531
 532
 533
 534 535
 536
 537
 538
 539
 540
 541
 542
 5

E.E.

the best Power. variety of ding for emetery fishers, kinds & kinds attentions tends in the min-dur-

Philadelphia Terminal
 Buffalo Freight Terminal
 Iron Ball Ball Ball good any

E h-0 r a me, and and nd by do ho

100-443887-100

[illegible]

11

[illegible]

This micrograph shows a cross-section of a polymer blend. A distinct vertical phase boundary is visible, separating two regions with different textures. The left region has a more granular appearance, while the right region shows a more elongated, fibrillar structure. The interface between them is irregular and somewhat jagged.

JO Ala., Sc

WHOLE NO. 1299

Retrenchment—Brooks. Reynolds

Foreman, Carter, Elketons---Coleman
Privileges and Elections---Coleman Wolf, Denman Williams, Bass, Graves,
 Lee, Logan and Lee.
Military Affairs---Burnett, Lawler,
 Martin, of Clarke, Hughes, Aiken,
 Butler, Boyles, Judkins and Horn.
Penitentiary---Crumpler, Holly, Carter, Johnson, Davis, Rily, Latham Denman and Ellis.
Bonds, Bridges and Ferries---Holly, Slade, Thompson, of Cloetach, Clapp Cobb, Reynolds; Shelton; West; and Thompson, of Macon.
State Capital---Arinton; Wilker-

County Boundaries.—Hearin, of Clarke, Parker, Brimley, Maxwell Middleton, Cotnam, Martin of Jefferson, Leroy and Aikin.

State Printing—Martin, of Calhoun.
Langdon, Miller, Parish, Snodgrass, Griffin, McClellan, of Limestone, and Gravelee.

Public Lands—Lawler, Lyon, Snodgrass, Pickett, Stansel, Smith, Cobb, Rainer, of Clarke.

Extra Session.

[REPORTED EXPRESSLY FOR THE MONTGOMERY ADVERTISER.]

MONDAY, NOV. 4, 1861.

CALL OF THE DISTRICTS.

Mr. Crump introduced a bill for the relief of Barton Hamilton, Referred.

Mr. Calhoun—A bill to prohibit the taking of contributions without a license.

From Same—An adverse report was made to the petition of Messrs D. J. Nett and others. Concurred in, since the object sought was already provided for by a previous act.

GENERAL ORDERS.

For the relief of Messrs Hardwood and Pearson.

---

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Monday, Nov. 1861.

Mr. Orr introduced a bill to collect the arms of the State. Referred.

Mr. Ellis—A bill to exempt Volunteers from poll tax, and from tax on $500 of Real Estate during the war. Ordered to second reading.

Mr. Aldridge—A bill to amend a

Mr Sikes---A bill to equip volunteers and to purchase arms. Referred.

Mr Sikes--A bill to equip volunteers and to purchase arms. Referred.

Mr Rives—A bill to amend Section 1056 of the Code. Ordered to a second reading.

Mr Arrington—A bill to restrict the pay of witnesses in State cases to one case per day. Same order.

to provide for the military education of two young men from each county. Same order.

REPORTS OF STANDING COMMITTEES.

From Internal Improvements—Mr. Holly reported favorably to the bill to

From Judiciary—Mr Pickett reported favorably to bills to prohibit the dealing in county claims by county officers; and to amend an act for holding court in Mobile for Admiralty causes.

GENERAL ORDERS.

Bills Passed—To authorize Judges of Probate to issue writs of habeas corpus in certain cases.

Senate bill to prohibit the taking of obstructive privileges when only four de-

On motion, the House then adjourned till 10 o'clock to morrow morning.

---

SENATE.

THURSDAY, Nov. 5 1861

Mr. Barnes—A bill to provide for the payment interest on the State Bonds Referred.

Mr. Reavis—A bill in relation to practice in the Chancery Court. Sequel

GENERAL ORDERS.
Bills Passed—In relation to, Executors, Administrators, &c.

Jacksonville Republican.

JACKSONVILLE, FLA.,
Nov. 11, 1861.

An Urgent Call.

Necessity compels us to make an urgent and earnest call upon our patriotic help.

We did not, like most of the papers of the country, at the commencement of this war, adopt the cash system, but continued to issue our paper to all who requested it, by mail or otherwise, where we had reason to believe that good, reposing implicit confidence in the uprightness of their intentions, and truth of their promises, to pay us in a few months. All through Spring Summer and Autumn, we have labored faithfully and waited patiently for the fulfillment of these promises, until now our expenses have so accumulated, and our necessities are such, as to compel us to make this earnest appeal. Shall it be made in vain? Will they leave us to disappointment, loss and neglect, as the reward of our generous confidence? We hope and believe not. Were the amounts from each large, it might be out of the power of many to meet them but they are so small that it cannot seriously inconvenience any one, hard as the times are, to pay them.

We are not now writing to "point a moral or a lesson," but to inform our patrons in all truth and candor, that we could not if we would, continue to furnish so large a number of papers, unless they furnish us with the means, by paying up their subscriptions. And if they fail to do this, we shall be compelled in a few weeks, to strike large numbers from our list, who owe for one or more years, and proceed to collect the amounts due, as best we can. In case we are compelled to do this, we beg of them to remember, that our terms have uniformly been published, two dollars within the year or three dollars after its expiration, which will be required. But we will here say to all, who owe for one or two or more years, that two dollars per year will be received, up to the 1st day of January next.

It involves immense labor and expense to print and mail two thousand papers per week, but we will cheerfully undertake it all, if our patrons will meet with justice and generosity towards us.

Do not wait to have an account presented or sent, to see us personally or send by a friend, but at your earliest convenience, enclose by mail at our risk, about the amount you think due, and it shall be promptly credited, and in every case where requested, the receipt acknowledged in the paper.

What Necessity is There for a Stay-Law?

The reply that is most frequently heard, is that in this emergency, when war is desolating the land the agricultural products cannot be sold except at a ruinous sacrifice. Is this true? Does not wheat readily command one dollar per bushel, has not seventy-five cents to one dollar been offered for corn? Is not hay and fodder worth from one to one and a half dollars, and corn selling at forty to fifty cents, with a large surplus in the country, and pork in demand at almost any price? To rebut all this twaddle, that cotton, upon which all relied is unsalable. Go to your creditor and you will find that this is not true; or, if he should be unwilling to buy, take it to Rouse or Montgomery and you can get forty dollars a bale for it or eight cents per lb. Our exchanges report it selling readily at the latter place for that price. Oh yes, this may all be as you say, but who wanted to sacrifice his cotton? Now will you tell us how often you have taken eight and even ten to six cents, and yet you seem to have grown rich, besides paying your debts of former years. Is it a hardship to take forty dollars a bale for cotton, when in times of profound peace you have sold for thirty without much increase. Then besides this, is it just that you should withhold from your creditor his earnings, your merchandise your money, your best-made, your tailor, lawyer, physician, drug and grocery have all relied upon in good faith, believing that you would make an honest effort to pay. They have made contracts based upon their faith in your integrity, and is it right that you disappoint them. How is your shoemaker to buy provisions for an honest and maybe ordering family? How is your house carpenter to protect his home, the child of the widow's blast, if you sit beside the hearth-stone in rooms made comfortable by his skill and industry, and plan how you may avoid paying him, simply because your cotton will only bring $10 a bale?

As you lay upon a sick couch, did you accept any excuse from your physician why he could not visit you? No sir, but through rain and storm and darkness you called him, and now when his family need the money you so justly owe, you reply—Oh, I can't pay, my cotton will only bring $10 a bale.

When your enemy undertook to wrong you, and had employed counsel to worst him, you something he considered himself entitled to, did you say to your attorney—Oh, ahead, do all you can for me and if cotton brings more than $10 a bale I will pay? Not a word of it, but now, since he has secured your right, you are indifferent to his claims upon you, and to his inquiry for provisions? Must I have a little to spare, but I must have the money for them as I have my taxes to pay, and don't want to sell my cotton as it is worth only $30 a bale and will be such a sacrifice.

Who has contributed more to your comfort and success than your merchant, and now is it right that you should require the hands of the Legislature a "stay-law" under which to cloak your indifference to his claims, to his necessities?

What assets has he inside from this note case and ledger, and wherein is the justice in compelling him to suffer by having these locked up, whilst you are permitted to dispose of yours "at the highest market price, and withhold from him what is justly his own so long as it suits your convenience?

There is no justice in stay laws, but gross partiality. The former cannot say that he has contributed so much to his country's cause that he is entitled thereby to such unmeasured consideration. Whilst all are ready, and willing to accord to him due praise, the sacrifices and contributions of the merchant, mechanic, lawyer, doctor, &c., &c., must not be overlooked. They have ever been ready and willing to do the best of patriots, and have responded to her earnest calls, and now only ask that honest integrity be exercised and that all share alike in the sacrifices that are necessary to be made. They ask no protection, but such as they are willing to accord to others. If you cannot sell your cotton for money, go to your creditors and propose to sell to them at a fair price. We shall be very much obliged if you do not trade. You will relieve yourselves of debt and interest, and place in the hands of your creditor something that he may make available in the relief of himself.

Important News.

Our readers will find the telegraphic news in today's paper of unusual importance. We chronicle today another great victory. Henceforth the great Southern victory at the battle of Columbus, will take its place in history, side by side with Great Britain, Manassas, Springfield, Lexington, and Leesburg. Particulars will be given in our next.

The news however from the coast is not so favorable. Port Royal, Fort Walker and Hilton Head have been taken by the Yankee fleet, and Charleston and Savannah are said to be threatened. We cannot believe however, the Yankees can achieve any permanent success on land, and their temporary success may lead them to their utter destruction.

The news of the burning of the bridges on the Georgia and Tennessee Railroads may have been good. These bridges ought to have been more carefully guarded heretofore, and I doubt vigilance will now be requisite. We should not be surprised to hear that the Yankee threat to strike a simultaneous blow at Centerville and Manassas, on the Southern coast and in the west has been carried out with perhaps a desperate effort to get into East Tennessee.

A new Post Office called REX-AX, has been established eight miles north of this place, on the stage road to Rome, Georgia, and E. H. S. Garrett appointed Post Master.

We intended to have said something about the sick camp near Bristol, for the satisfaction of those who had friends and relatives there. But we learn the camp has since been broken up, which makes it unnecessary any more of the sick having been discharged and sent home, some sent to the Richmond hospital, and some recovered sufficiently to return to their duties in camp. We will say however, that we visited the camp as we went on to Centerville, and as we returned home, though we had nothing more or better to offer than the words of sympathy for the afflicted. We also visited the grave yard where fifty-two or three of the 15th Regt. are buried in regular rows, the whole neatly enclosed in a rail fence. A number of the graves had head stones, or cedar boards with the names of the persons and times of their death engraved. We noticed particularly the names of Watkins, Weaver, Tatum, Pless and others, from this vicinity, who are buried side by side, under the spreading boughs of two beautiful twin cedars. May their memories be as fragrant as the ever-green Cedars under which they peacefully rest, cherished by their surviving friends and countrymen, as those who have sacrificed their lives in the cause of their country.

We will also embrace this opportunity, to bestow what we believe to be a deserved tribute to Mr. Luke C. Mitchell, who had been appointed Commissary and Superintendent at the sick camp. By the faithful, patient, preserving and sympathizing manner in which he performed his duties, he seemed to have won the respect, esteem and affection of all.

Mr. George H. Ferry, left this place, on Thursday morning last, with three or four friends for Calhoun County, to carry out the "Calhoun Guard" at Fort Morgan.

The first man to whose favor we were indebted, after our arrival at Manassas, on our late visit, was Dr. C. J. Clark, Surgeon of the 19th Ala. Regt. The morning we arrived there we walked from Bristol to Manassas Junction, a distance of four miles, and met the Dr. in the road near the latter place, on his way to visit the Camp of the sick. After we had rambled about some hours at the Junction, amongst the dense crowd and general jumble, we were recognized by one of the Drs. Ambulance drivers, who said he was instructed to carry us to the Camps at Centerville thenceforward. We accepted the kind invitation, supposing the man had recognized us as the Doctor did, at the distance of eight or three hundred yards, because we were not always star-gazing in the day time, for we were just then meditating on the disagreeable alternative of having to sleep in the open air, amidst wagons and mules, and piles of boxes and barrels, or walking that evening six miles further to the Camps at Centerville.

Our grateful acknowledgments are due to Messrs. J. T. King, Jas. Maloney, B. F. Badgett, Wright George, and Rowan and McCroskey, for their kind hospitality, and conveyance furnished us in getting from one point to another, in our recent brief visit to portions of Knox, Blount and Monroe Counties, Tenn. on our return from the army in Virginia. On former visits to some of these friends, our country was peaceful and prosperous, but in this last visit we were in the gloom of great tribulation yet we found their hearts as warm as ever, and their hospitality as free and cheering. May they long live, to aid the cause of Southern independence when needed, and soon find Union men in East Tennessee as scarce as Confederate soldiers who can last the Yankees in a retreat.

Di-illeries.—We regret to learn that preparations are making in this and other Counties of this State, to distill a considerable portion of the present crop. We hope that many who have thought of doing so will reconsider the matter, and adopt a different course. It is true the present crop is abundant, but it followed several years of scarcity, and the stock of hogs, and cattle has been greatly reduced, and need all the corn to increase them to the wants of the country. Surely well-meaning, reflecting men in the present state of the country, for the paltry extra profit, will not take the corn, so much needed by man and beast, and convert it into distilling, producing, strutting, and destroying and spirits. If they do, they can hardly hope to be blessed by a kind and beneficent Providence with another bountiful crop.

The Marshall news says that Judge S. D. Hale has been authorized by the War Department to raise a Regiment for the war and that he will shortly address the people in various parts of that County for that purpose.

Large Potatoes.—We tender our thanks to Maj. D. A. Miller, living near Goldsboro, for a sack of large sweet potatoes, two of which weighed six pounds each.

The Major requests us to say, to the Editor of the Courier, that the two and three pound potatoes about which he has been bragging, is of the sort of potato seed that he plants.

GRAND NEWS.—Hon. J. L. M. Curry, for Confederate Senator.

Mr. Editor: As the time is near at hand for the election of Confederate Senators from Alabama, I beg leave to suggest the name of the Hon. J. L. M. Curry for that distinguished position. I believe it is understood that one of the Senators to be chosen at the approaching session of the Legislature will be elected from South and the other from North Alabama, and while our friends in the Southern district of the State somewhat divided among themselves, as to the man to be put forth by them for this high position. I am satisfied that North Alabama will make almost unanimously upon Mr. Curry. There is no political or personal objection to our late representative in the U. S. Senate, Hon. C. C. Clay, and but for the feeble and shattered condition of his health, the people of Alabama would be proud to transfer him to a seat in the Senate of Confederate States, but the labors in the organization of our new government and of settling the permanent foundations of our political institutions, will be enough to exhaust the energies of the soundest constitution, and we suppose Mr. Clay's health would not justify him in assuming so heavy a task, and we therefore present the name of Mr. Curry for Confederate Senator.

It would be useless to speak of Mr. Curry's capacity and fitness for filling that high and responsible office, with credit to himself and honor to his State. His superior as a wise and faithful legislator and as a sound and practical Statesman, is not to be found in the Confederate States, and personally he is perhaps the most popular man in the State. We beg leave to press his claims upon the Legislature for a seat in the Confederate Senate.

Some of the citizens of this town are Attention Cavalry.

Capt. Blakey and Lieut. Reese, are now in this place, authorized by Col. Clanton to raise and equip a Cavalry Company, for his Regiment, which will be the only Cavalry Regt. from Alabama.

Capt. Blakey and Lieut. Reese have been in the service since the commencement of the war, the former in Gen. Withers Staff, and the latter with Capt. Clanton on the coast.

Col. Jas. R. Powell, of Montgomery has magnanimously offered to furnish horses, and Capt. Blakey and Lieut. Reese will furnish uniforms, arms and equipments to the recruits. The company will be named the "Jim Powell Dragoons," in honor of the magnificent doer, after whom it is named.

This will be an excellent opportunity, and ought to be embraced by all who wish to enter the Cavalry service, as the pay is better, (being $25 per month,) and the service lighter than almost any other branch.

Willamshurst, Va., Oct. 28th, 1861.

Dear Republican:

Though there is nothing of very great importance transpired within my knowledge in the past three weeks on the Peninsula, I have concluded to write a few lines to-day, that our friends may know we have not, as yet been swallowed up by the great whirlpool or whirlwind of Yankee or Black Republicanism. I know not whether my short and hasty written letters have ever reached your office, as I have seen but one No. of the "Republican" since I left the romantic hills of old Randolph. I should be very much gratified indeed to see a paper, occasionally addressed to me.

The 13th and 8th Ala. Regiments, the former commanded by Col. B. D. Fry, the latter by Col. John A. Winston, both under command of the latter, are now stationed two miles below Yorktown. But the regiments of this Division are moved about from one place to another with such rapidity, and so very frequently, it is quite uncertain where they may be by the time this letter arrives in your village.

Great preparations are being made by Gen. Magruder, who commanded the army of the Peninsula, to welcome the unhallooed fleet of Black Republicanism, "with bloody hands to the spitable graves." A fight on a large scale, is hourly expected, and when it comes, we intend to give them a warm and hearty reception. From what I have seen, and judging from what I have heard, "knowing ones" say, and knowing as I do, the character of our men, and of Abraham's, it is my opinion it will take fifty or sixty thousand modern goths and vandals, to overpower our forces on this Peninsula. I never intend to apply the term "ship" to our boys, until after that thing is done, and I believe my head will have grown gray in the service of the Confederate States before I shall feel called upon to record such an accident. Our flag has been borne triumphantly in every conflict in this Division yet, as far as my knowledge extends, and we intend, by the blessings of Divine Providence, that it shall proudly float over every battle field.

We are preparing the material for the ninth and glorious chapter in the history of the present war. That it will be as complete, as bright and as beautiful as any yet written, I entertain not the shadow of doubt.

All the sick and disabled soldiers of this army are being sent to this place for treatment. Every man who is not able to shoulder his musket and march in double quick time at a moment's warning, is being hauled to this place. The 15th Ala. has about one hundred here, either sick, convalescent or unable for duty. Among the number I may mention, for the satisfaction of those deeply interested, Sergeant Keith, Peter Morris, Charles S. Morrison, Crawford Morrison, Zach. Taylor, Mathew McClinton, J. M. Strayhorn, David Stephens, Preston Owens, Verdy Denny, and S. P. Kennedy, of Capt. Allen's company. There are several others from other Randolph companies, whose names I have not taken yet. I recollect Wm. Davis, Thaddeus Paul and Capen, in Rowan, and Gibbs of E. B. Smith's. There are none of the above dangerous, but very few of the hundred, if any.

Our troops, after having had the measles at Richmond, were ordered off, with constitutions much debilitated, to Yorktown, which is located in one of the worst malarial districts I have ever seen. The consequence has been, hundreds of cases of intermittent and remittent fevers. But under the influence of colder weather—fine bracing atmosphere for the past week or ten days, the health of our men is rapidly improving. In addition to the male and female colleges in this place, the churches have been, within the past few days, emptied of their pews and the blankets of sick, lame and halt soldiers put in their places. By, at this time, the accommodations for the sick are extremely poor. Nothing in many cases but a single blanket for a bed and covering—lying upon the hard floor. But great exertions are constantly being made to remedy the difficulty.

Some of the citizens of this town are very anxious and charitable, what private home life in, in my mind, make the most comfortable and pleasant place for the sick and disabled soldiers. These people would not take in boarders at all, were it not for the accommodation of the invalid. They do not pretend to take a man who is not one who is likely to require a good deal of waiting on. And yet not have them here to drive back the army who would spread ruin and devastation over this section of country—destroying farms, houses, towns and villages. This is not the spirit that actuated the fathers and mothers of the Revolution in this part of the old Dominion.

This is quite an ancient little city. As you are aware it was once the capital of the State. It is situated in a low, flat sandy plain, between the James and York rivers, seven miles from old Jamestown. It is not more than 40 or 50 ft. above sea level. William and Mary College is at this place. It was in this ancient institution, that Thomas Jefferson the apostle of liberty—imbibed those great and true Republican principles which have immortalized his name. The Lunatic Asylum of the State is also located here, containing some two hundred inmates or inmates.

Ex-President Tyler paid the College Hospital a visit last week. He conversed quite freely with the patients. His daughter, has control of the domestic department of the Hospital, if there can be said to be such a department. Hoping to receive a paper soon, I will close for the present.

Very truly,
H. C. G.

Yorktown, Va. Oct. 21st, 1861.

Mrs. P. LAMFORD.

It becomes my painful duty, as Capt. of the company, of which your husband was a member, to communicate to you the intelligence that he died last night near eleven o'clock, at the Hospital in this place, from Intermittent Fever. This sickness was severe, but lasted only a short time. From the time he was taken until his death, was only a little over twenty-four hours, but his physical strength was so exhausted, that his physician says that the disease that terminated his existence was not produced or aggravated by neglect, but from other causes. We had no idea when he was taken that he would die, as he showed a very common sense, but we found in a few hours that something must be done speedily, or it could not live. A Surgeon was sent for immediately, his throat was blistered, and everything done that could be done in camp by his company, and as soon as we could have him admitted, we carried him to the Hospital on his blankets, two good horses of his company still to wait on him, and before his death, two others were sent. He had three physicians to call and consult about his case, but his time had come, and his physical strength was so exhausted, that his physician says that the disease that terminated his existence was not produced or aggravated by neglect, but from other causes. We had no idea when he was taken that he would die, as he showed a very common sense, but we found in a few hours that something must be done speedily, or it could not live. A Surgeon was sent for immediately, his throat was blistered, and everything done that could be done in camp by his company, and as soon as we could have him admitted, we carried him to the Hospital on his blankets, two good horses of his company still to wait on him, and before his death, two others were sent. He had three physicians to call and consult about his case, but his time had come, and his physical strength was so exhausted, that his physician says that the disease that terminated his existence was not produced or aggravated by neglect, but from other causes. We had no idea when he was taken that he would die, as he showed a very common sense, but we found in a few hours that something must be done speedily, or it could not live. A Surgeon was sent for immediately, his throat was blistered, and everything done that could be done in camp by his company, and as soon as we could have him admitted, we carried him to the Hospital on his blankets, two good horses of his company still to wait on him, and before his death, two others were sent. He had three physicians to call and consult about his case, but his time had come, and his physical strength was so exhausted, that his physician says that the disease that terminated his existence was not produced or aggravated by neglect, but from other causes. We had no idea when he was taken that he would die, as he showed a very common sense, but we found in a few hours that something must be done speedily, or it could not live. A Surgeon was sent for immediately, his throat was blistered, and everything done that could be done in camp by his company, and as soon as we could have him admitted, we carried him to the Hospital on his blankets, two good horses of his company still to wait on him, and before his death, two others were sent. He had three physicians to call and consult about his case, but his time had come, and his physical strength was so exhausted, that his physician says that the disease that terminated his existence was not produced or aggravated by neglect, but from other causes. We had no idea when he was taken that he would die, as he showed a very common sense, but we found in a few hours that something must be done speedily, or it could not live. A Surgeon was sent for immediately, his throat was blistered, and everything done that could be done in camp by his company, and as soon as we could have him admitted, we carried him to the Hospital on his blankets, two good horses of his company still to wait on him, and before his death, two others were sent. He had three physicians to call and consult about his case, but his time had come, and his physical strength was so exhausted, that his physician says that the disease that terminated his existence was not produced or aggravated by neglect, but from other causes. We had no idea when he was taken that he would die, as he showed a very common sense, but we found in a few hours that something must be done speedily, or it could not live. A Surgeon was sent for immediately, his throat was blistered, and everything done that could be done in camp by his company, and as soon as we could have him admitted, we carried him to the Hospital on his blankets, two good horses of his company still to wait on him, and before his death, two others were sent. He had three physicians to call and consult about his case, but his time had come, and his physical strength was so exhausted, that his physician says that the disease that terminated his existence was not produced or aggravated by neglect, but from other causes. We had no idea when he was taken that he would die, as he showed a very common sense, but we found in a few hours that something must be done speedily, or it could not live. A Surgeon was sent for immediately, his throat was blistered, and everything done that could be done in camp by his company, and as soon as we could have him admitted, we carried him to the Hospital on his blankets, two good horses of his company still to wait on him, and before his death, two others were sent. He had three physicians to call and consult about his case, but his time had come, and his physical strength was so exhausted, that his physician says that the disease that terminated his existence was not produced or aggravated by neglect, but from other causes. We had no idea when he was taken that he would die, as he showed a very common sense, but we found in a few hours that something must be done speedily, or it could not live. A Surgeon was sent for immediately, his throat was blistered, and everything done that could be done in camp by his company, and as soon as we could have him admitted, we carried him to the Hospital on his blankets, two good horses of his company still to wait on him, and before his death, two others were sent. He had three physicians to call and consult about his case, but his time had come, and his physical strength was so exhausted, that his physician says that the disease that terminated his existence was not produced or aggravated by neglect, but from other causes. We had no idea when he was taken that he would die, as he showed a very common sense, but we found in a few hours that something must be done speedily, or it could not live. A Surgeon was sent for immediately, his throat was blistered, and everything done that could be done in camp by his company, and as soon as we could have him admitted, we carried him to the Hospital on his blankets, two good horses of his company still to wait on him, and before his death, two others were sent. He had three physicians to call and consult about his case, but his time had come, and his physical strength was so exhausted, that his physician says that the disease that terminated his existence was not produced or aggravated by neglect, but from other causes. We had no idea when he was taken that he would die, as he showed a very common sense, but we found in a few hours that something must be done speedily, or it could not live. A Surgeon was sent for immediately, his throat was blistered, and everything done that could be done in camp by his company, and as soon as we could have him admitted, we carried him to the Hospital on his blankets, two good horses of his company still to wait on him, and before his death, two others were sent. He had three physicians to call and consult about his case, but his time had come, and his physical strength was so exhausted, that his physician says that the disease that terminated his existence was not produced or aggravated by neglect, but from other causes. We had no idea when he was taken that he would die, as he showed a very common sense, but we found in a few hours that something must be done speedily, or it could not live. A Surgeon was sent for immediately, his throat was blistered, and everything done that could be done in camp by his company, and as soon as we could have him admitted, we carried him to the Hospital on his blankets, two good horses of his company still to wait on him, and before his death, two others were sent. He had three physicians to call and consult about his case, but his time had come, and his physical strength was so exhausted, that his physician says that the disease that terminated his existence was not produced or aggravated by neglect, but from other causes. We had no idea when he was taken that he would die, as he showed a very common sense, but we found in a few hours that something must be done speedily, or it could not live. A Surgeon was sent for immediately, his throat was blistered, and everything done that could be done in camp by his company, and as soon as we could have him admitted, we carried him to the Hospital on his blankets, two good horses of his company still to wait on him, and before his death, two others were sent. He had three physicians to call and consult about his case, but his time had come, and his physical strength was so exhausted, that his physician says that the disease that terminated his existence was not produced or aggravated by neglect, but from other causes. We had no idea when he was taken that he would die, as he showed a very common sense, but we found in a few hours that something must be done speedily, or it could not live. A Surgeon was sent for immediately, his throat was blistered, and everything done that could be done in camp by his company, and as soon as we could have him admitted, we carried him to the Hospital on his blankets, two good horses of his company still to wait on him, and before his death, two others were sent. He had three physicians to call and consult about his case, but his time had come, and his physical strength was so exhausted, that his physician says that the disease that terminated his existence was not produced or aggravated by neglect, but from other causes. We had no idea when he was taken that he would die, as he showed a very common sense, but we found in a few hours that something must be done speedily, or it could not live. A Surgeon was sent for immediately, his throat was blistered, and everything done that could be done in camp by his company, and as soon as we could have him admitted, we carried him to the Hospital on his blankets, two good horses of his company still to wait on him, and before his death, two others were sent. He had three physicians to call and consult about his case, but his time had come, and his physical strength was so exhausted, that his physician says that the disease that terminated his existence was not produced or aggravated by neglect, but from other causes. We had no idea when he was taken that he would die, as he showed a very common sense, but we found in a few hours that something must be done speedily, or it could not live. A Surgeon was sent for immediately, his throat was blistered, and everything done that could be done in camp by his company, and as soon as we could have him admitted, we carried him to the Hospital on his blankets, two good horses of his company still to wait on him, and before his death, two others were sent. He had three physicians to call and consult about his case, but his time had come, and his physical strength was so exhausted, that his physician says that the disease that terminated his existence was not produced or aggravated by neglect, but from other causes. We had no idea when he was taken that he would die, as he showed a very common sense, but we found in a few hours that something must be done speedily, or it could not live. A Surgeon was sent for immediately, his throat was blistered, and everything done that could be done in camp by his company, and as soon as we could have him admitted, we carried him to the Hospital on his blankets, two good horses of his company still to wait on him, and before his death, two others were sent. He had three physicians to call and consult about his case, but his time had come, and his physical strength was so exhausted, that his physician says that the disease that terminated his existence was not produced or aggravated by neglect, but from other causes. We had no idea when he was taken that he would die, as he showed a very common sense, but we found in a few hours that something must be done speedily, or it could not live. A Surgeon was sent for immediately, his throat was blistered, and everything done that could be done in camp by his company, and as soon as we could have him admitted, we carried him to the Hospital on his blankets, two good horses of his company still to wait on him, and before his death, two others were sent. He had three physicians to call and consult about his case, but his time had come, and his physical strength was so exhausted, that his physician says that the disease that terminated his existence was not produced or aggravated by neglect, but from other causes. We had no idea when he was taken that he would die, as he showed a very common sense, but we found in a few hours that something must be done speedily, or it could not live. A Surgeon was sent for immediately, his throat was blistered, and everything done that could be done in camp by his company, and as soon as we could have him admitted, we carried him to the Hospital on his blankets, two good horses of his company still to wait on him, and before his death, two others were sent. He had three physicians to call and consult about his case, but his time had come, and his physical strength was so exhausted, that his physician says that the disease that terminated his existence was not produced or aggravated by neglect, but from other causes. We had no idea when he was taken that he would die, as he showed a very common sense, but we found in a few hours that something must be done speedily, or it could not live. A Surgeon was sent for immediately, his throat was blistered, and everything done that could be done in camp by his company, and as soon as we could have him admitted, we carried him to the Hospital on his blankets, two good horses of his company still to wait on him, and before his death, two others were sent. He had three physicians to call and consult about his case, but his time had come, and his physical strength was so exhausted, that his physician says that the disease that terminated his existence was not produced or aggravated by neglect, but from other causes. We had no idea when he was taken that he would die, as he showed a very common sense, but we found in a few hours that something must be done speedily, or it could not live. A Surgeon was sent for immediately, his throat was blistered, and everything done that could be done in camp by his company, and as soon as we could have him admitted, we carried him to the Hospital on his blankets, two good horses of his company still to wait on him, and before his death, two others were sent. He had three physicians to call and consult about his case, but his time had come, and his physical strength was so exhausted, that his physician says that the disease that terminated his existence was not produced or aggravated by neglect, but from other causes. We had no idea when he was taken that he would die, as he showed a very common sense, but we found in a few hours that something must be done speedily, or it could not live. A Surgeon was sent for immediately, his throat was blistered, and everything done that could be done in camp by his company, and as soon as we could have him admitted, we carried him to the Hospital on his blankets, two good horses of his company still to wait on him, and before his death, two others were sent. He had three physicians to call and consult about his case, but his time had come, and his physical strength was so exhausted, that his physician says that the disease that terminated his existence was not produced or aggravated by neglect, but from other causes. We had no idea when he was taken that he would die, as he showed a very common sense, but we found in a few hours that something must be done speedily, or it could not live. A Surgeon was sent for immediately, his throat was blistered, and everything done that could be done in camp by his company, and as soon as we could have him admitted, we carried him to the Hospital on his blankets, two good horses of his company still to wait on him, and before his death, two others were sent. He had three physicians to call and consult about his case, but his time had come, and his physical strength was so exhausted, that his physician says that the disease that terminated his existence was not produced or aggravated by neglect, but from other causes. We had no idea when he was taken that he would die, as he showed a very common sense, but we found in a few hours that something must be done speedily, or it could not live. A Surgeon was sent for immediately, his throat was blistered, and everything done that could be done in camp by his company, and as soon as we could have him admitted, we carried him to the Hospital on his blankets, two good horses of his company still to wait on him, and before his death, two others were sent. He had three physicians to call and consult about his case, but his time had come, and his physical strength was so exhausted, that his physician says that the disease that terminated his existence was not produced or aggravated by neglect, but from other causes. We had no idea when he was taken that he would die, as he showed a very common sense, but we found in a few hours that something must be done speedily, or it could not live. A Surgeon was sent for immediately, his throat was blistered, and everything done that could be done in camp by his company, and as soon as we could have him admitted, we carried him to the Hospital on his blankets, two good horses of his company still to wait on him, and before his death, two others were sent. He had three physicians to call and consult about his case, but his time had come, and his physical strength was so exhausted, that his physician says that the disease that terminated his existence was not produced or aggravated by neglect, but from other causes. We had no idea when he was taken that he would die, as he showed a very common sense, but we found in a few hours that something must be done speedily, or it could not live. A Surgeon was sent for immediately, his throat was blistered, and everything done that could be done in camp by his company, and as soon as we could have him admitted, we carried him to the Hospital on his blankets, two good horses of his company still to wait on him, and before his death, two others were sent. He had three physicians to call and consult about his case, but his time had come, and his physical strength was so exhausted, that his physician says that the disease that terminated his existence was not produced or aggravated by neglect, but from other causes. We had no idea when he was taken that he would die, as he showed a very common sense, but we found in a few hours that something must be done speedily, or it could not live. A Surgeon was sent for immediately, his throat was blistered, and everything done that could be done in camp by his company, and as soon as we could have him admitted, we carried him to the Hospital on his blankets, two good horses of his company still to wait on him, and before his death, two others were sent. He had three physicians to call and consult about his case, but his time had come, and his physical strength was so exhausted, that his physician says that the disease that terminated his existence was not produced or aggravated by neglect, but from other causes. We had no idea when he was taken that he would die, as he showed a very common sense, but we found in a few hours that something must be done speedily, or it could not live. A Surgeon was sent for immediately, his throat was blistered, and everything done that could be done in camp by his company, and as soon as we could have him admitted, we carried him to the Hospital on his blankets, two good horses of his company still to wait on him, and before his death, two others were sent. He had three physicians to call and consult about his case, but his time had come, and his physical strength was so exhausted, that his physician says that the disease that terminated his existence was not produced or aggravated by neglect, but from other causes. We had no idea when he was taken that he would die, as he showed a very common sense, but we found in a few hours that something must be done speedily, or it could not live. A Surgeon was sent for immediately, his throat was blistered, and everything done that could be done in camp by his company, and as soon as we could have him admitted, we carried him to the Hospital on his blankets, two good horses of his company still to wait on him, and before his death, two others were sent. He had three physicians to call and consult about his case, but his time had come, and his physical strength was so exhausted, that his physician says that the disease that terminated his existence was not produced or aggravated by neglect, but from other causes. We had no idea when he was taken that he would die, as he showed a very common sense, but we found in a few hours that something must be done speedily, or it could not live. A Surgeon was sent for immediately, his throat was blistered, and everything done that could be done in camp by his company, and as soon as we could have him admitted, we carried him to the Hospital on his blankets, two good horses of his company still to wait on him, and before his death, two others were sent. He had three physicians to call and consult about his case, but his time had come, and his physical strength was so exhausted, that his physician says that the disease that terminated his existence was not produced or aggravated by neglect, but from other causes. We had no idea when he was taken that he would die, as he showed a very common sense, but we found in a few hours that something must be done speedily, or it could not live. A Surgeon was sent for immediately, his throat was blistered, and everything done that could be done in camp by his company, and as soon as we could have him admitted, we carried him to the Hospital on his blankets, two good horses of his company still to wait on him, and before his death, two others were sent. He had three physicians to call and consult about his case, but his time had come, and his physical strength was so exhausted, that his physician says that the disease that terminated his existence was not produced or aggravated by neglect, but from other causes. We had no idea when he was taken that he would die, as he showed a very common sense, but we found in a few hours that something must be done speedily, or it could not live. A Surgeon was sent for immediately, his throat was blistered, and everything done that could be done in camp by his company, and as soon as we could have him admitted, we carried him to the Hospital on his blankets, two good horses of his company still to wait on him, and before his death, two others were sent. He had three physicians to call and consult about his case, but his time had come, and his physical strength was so exhausted, that his physician says that the disease that terminated his existence was not produced or aggravated by neglect, but from other causes. We had no idea when he was taken that he would die, as he showed a very common sense, but we found in a few hours that something must be done speedily, or it could not live. A Surgeon was sent for immediately, his throat was blistered, and everything done that could be done in camp by his company, and as soon as we could have him admitted, we carried him to the Hospital on his blankets, two good horses of his company still to wait on him, and before his death, two others were sent. He had three physicians to call and consult about his case, but his time had come, and his physical strength was so exhausted, that his physician says that the disease that terminated his existence was not produced or aggravated by neglect, but from other causes. We had no idea when he was taken that he would die, as he showed a very common sense, but we found in a few hours that something must be done speedily, or it could not live. A Surgeon was sent for immediately, his throat was blistered, and everything done that could be done in camp by his company, and as soon as we could have him admitted, we carried him to the Hospital on his blankets, two good horses of his company still to wait on him, and before his death, two others were sent. He had three physicians to call and consult about his case, but his time had come, and his physical strength was so exhausted, that his physician says that the disease that terminated his existence was not produced or aggravated by neglect, but from other causes. We had no idea when he was taken that he would die, as he showed a very common sense, but we found in a few hours that something must be done speedily, or it could not live. A Surgeon was sent for immediately, his throat was blistered, and everything done that could be done in camp by his company, and as soon as we could have him admitted, we carried him to the Hospital on his blankets, two good horses of his company still to wait on him, and before his death, two others were sent. He had three physicians to call and consult about his case, but his time had come, and his physical strength was so exhausted, that his physician says that the disease that terminated his existence was not produced or aggravated by neglect, but from other causes. We had no idea when he was taken that he would die, as he showed a very common sense, but we found in a few hours that something must be done speedily, or it could not live. A Surgeon was sent for immediately, his throat was blistered, and everything done that could be done in camp by his company, and as soon as we could have him admitted,

Can on Secy. M. J. TURNLEY.
Jacksonville, Ala., May 9, 1864.

An Urgent Call.

We do not like to see a nation or an individual go into a hard fight, both humiliated and hand-cuffed: and we now very truly believe, that if our national Congress the base creatures who have dared invade our soil. When the opening for peace meet, the shouts and songs that have rung out over the success achieved by their Amada, will be turned into wails and groans. The rejoicing of the pure and clear, for culinary purposes but the defect is made up in the profuse quantity of wood furnished by the grove and that is an item of importance just at this time, for the pinching cold of ap-finity. These Alabamians are exceedingly anxious that there be a few more companies added so as to complete the Regiment. This done they would be allowed to elect or recommend for an a similar condition to that in which we were placed, and to the storm-tossed mariner—out upon an open plain, upon a little island in the sea, with nothing to shield us from the fury of the tempest, save our little shanty tents, some of which and country, these gentlemen are seeking so to monopolize that they may extort rainous prices from those who are obliged to have.

Our country is blockaded, cotton is in the hands of the planter; and if the valor of Southern armies and the acknowledgement of

We will receive 100 volunteers all with good
Nov. 21, 1861.

The cap been bron:
The fo

ORE,
Rome, Ga.
Fully inform Physicians, Merchants, y, that he is opening a VERY S. CHEMICALS:

Having made arrangements with pared to sell such at manufact:
ited to give me one trial:

TURNLEY.
STEAM MILL.

undersigned is prepared to furnish of London at the shortest notice, at ving prices, viz:

to furnish Bedsteads and other kinds

Regimental Orders--No. 1.
THERE will be a Court Martial held at Johnstown on Saturday the 6th day of November 1861, at 11 o'clock, to try all defaulting 6th and 7th inst. for drill and re-enlistment. All sergeants and corporals who served notice to attend, attend the court with list of names of defaulters.

Following is a list of officers who constitute the court:

- Lieut Col. B. O. Ranney,
- Capt J. A. Wadkile,
- Capt G. W. Bonam,
- Capt Bartlett Owen,
- Lieut T. M. Burgess,
- Lieut John Owea,
- Lieut A. Kerr,
- Lieut W. W. McCourey.

By order of M. ALEXANDER, Col.,

NOTICE
The commissioned and non commissioned Officers of Beat No 29, and all persons do military duty within the bounds beat. You are hereby notified to the Battalion Court Martial to be held at 10 o'clock in Beat No 19, on the 16th day 1861. to answer for your non attend by order of M. ALEXANDER, Col.

BOTHAMLEY, Lieut Col.
9th Reg. A. M.
ley, Nov 8, 1861.

---

ew Goods
FOR 1861.

Oberndorf & Co. Oxford.
 now in the receipt of a new supply Merchandise, which, having been at very low rates, will be disposed of to suit the times.
 A good Bargains will, be given to BUYERS.
 We hope that all in need of Goods will call soon. Respectfully,
A. OBERNDORF & CO.
 14, 1864.

RICHMOND
PE FOUNDRY,
THE ONLY Manufactory of Type ON SOUTHERN SOIL
th of Baltimore.

FROM A BODKIN TO A
a-Cylinder Press.

offer you to every printer in the city. We desire every Newspaper in the South to publish this advertisement for one month, sending us a copy of their paper and receive for such advertisement upon purchase five times the amount of their bill from H. L. F. & CO.

NEW SPRING GOODS.
REGAN & COOPER,
KIDFORD ALA.

Just received, and now offer for sale on the most accommodating terms, a large and well selected stock of which they invite the attention of those of Oxford and vicinity. We sell at low profits, and prompt paying customers will find it to their interest to trade with us. All we ask is, to compare our goods and prices with any in the County.

WINTER AND SUMMER GOODS,

you are not then satisfied, we will you to trade with us.
TON YAKNS always on hand only. Oxford, May 2, 1861.

Administrators Notice to Creditors.
On the 27th day of August, 1861, the assigned was, by an order of the Pro-court of Calhoun county, Alabama, appointed the Administrators of the estate of Neely, late of said county, deceased, having claims against said estate ly notified to present them to us, duly authenticated, within the time prescribed or they will be barred; and all permitted to said estate are hereby notificated payment to us immediately.

VICTOR C. NELEY,
12—64, RICHARD STREET, Adms.

JUST RECEIVED AT THE DRUG STORE,
Large lot of White Lead; Oils

And White Zinc, for Painting is offered on better terms than ever Jacksonville. Oct. 11, '69

monid Hammonds, dec'd } Letters Estate of, } testam y-upon the last will and testament of ceased having been granted on the 26th August, 1861, by Hon. Alfred Turner, of the Probate court of St. Clair county.—Notice is hereby given that all persons having claims against said Estate will nired to present the same within the loved by law, or the same will be -Aug. 29, 1861.

 WILLIAM C. HAMMONDS, Adm.
 12-1861

Jacksonville Republican.

JACKSONVILLE, FLA.

Nov. 28, 1861.

Remember—that all Arrangements for the sale of the sixty companies for 12 months before a paper is discontinued.

Gov. Moore issued a second proclamation on the 22d inst. calling out the sixty companies for 12 months before a paper is discontinued.

A mistake occurred last week in Judge Tate's postponed sale of Pearson land—it ought to have been 21st December instead of November.

The papers throughout the country are fairly groaning under the weight of denunciation against the extortioners and speculators in articles of prime necessity; and we confess we sometimes have more fears of injury to the cause of the Southern Confederacy from these swarms of vampires, than all Lincoln's armies.

When the war first broke out, we rejoiced in the hollibaft contrast presented between the patriotic, honorable, and self-sacrificing people and officials of the Southern Confederacy, and the speculation and swindling officials and contractors of the Lincoln Government. But suddenly, from some inexplicable cause, there seems to have sprung up, all over the Southern Confederacy, a tribe of swindling extortioners and speculators, almost as numerous as the frogs and locusts of Egypt. Some of them we doubt not would spend on the water we drink and the air we breathe if they could do so. They impose upon the needy soldier in the army and his family at home—dampening the ardor of the soldier's patriotism, and the hope of the citizen in our triumph and independence.

When we remember that a single Achan, with his golden wedge, and Babylonish garment, could impede the progress of the Israelitish camp; what are we to expect of the numerous horde of this selfish and greedy tribe, scattered all over the country. May we not hope, that if their alligator bites are not totally impotent, that they will be checked in their progress, by the stinging rebuke of the newspaper press, and the withering and condemning influence of public opinion.

Relief Measures before our Legislature.

Hon. F. S. Lyon, Chairman of the Committee of Ways and Means, in a speech to the House on the 19th, stated in relation to a series of relief measures he was instructed to report, that the first measure proposed a reduction of 25 per cent. upon the salaries of all public officers in the State, and pay and mileage of members of the Legislature. The second measure proposed that the State shall assume the payment of the war tax. The 3d measure, in relation to the indebtedness of the people, proposes that in any case of debt heretofore contracted, where judgment may be obtained and execution issued, the Sheriff shall select one discreet person and the Probate Judge another, to value, on oath, according to cash value on 18th January 1860; if the property does not bring the valuation the debt to be stayed, upon the defendant paying interest and cost of suit. The 4th measure proposes the suspension of the collection of the State tax, until the meeting of the next General Assembly.

To this series of measures we presume, a large majority of the people would most cordially agree, as affording relief to the parties who needed it, without being unjust to any one.

A letter from our correspondent in the Asheville Blues, which will be published in extenso next week, informs us that that company has again been removed, and is now stationed near Hall's Mills, Mobile Co. at the head of navigation on Dog River—supposed to be for the better protection of Mobile against a land attack. The writer expresses the opinion, that Mobile is perfectly safe from any force of the vandals that can be brought against her. The measles are very prevalent in the hospital, though none dangerously ill. Those who were very sick at the time of the removal were sent to the Mobile Hospital, where they are well attended and tenderly cared for. The soldiers are well furnished, throughout the encampment, with a variety of good and wholesome provisions, and no complaint on that score.

As it would be expensive to send receipts by letter, and tedious and troublesome to enclose written receipts in the papers, we have, in order that those who forward subscriptions may know they have been received, commenced the publication of a receipt list, which may always be found on the 3rd page, between the late news and advertisements. We started the list last week, and intended to explain it, but omitted to do so.

This honorable list is discouragingly meagre as yet, but we still hope it will rapidly increase.

Capt. Blakey left this place on Sunday morning last for Montgomery with 4th of his Cavalry Company. A number had been sent on before, and 25 or 30 more will be received as will be seen by notice in another column.

Valuable Land Still Unsold.

We are informed that the valuable tract of land, which has been advertised in our paper for sale for some time, by Mr. S. J. T. Whately is still unsold. This land is situated only 4 1/2 miles from the Railroad and 1 1/2 south of Alexandria, on the Talladega road.

There are several other advantages, possessed by this land, not enumerated in the advertisement, and we will take the liberty here to state that the land can be purchased at low as $14 00 per acre, on one two and three years time. Surely such a proposition as this ought to bring purchasers from far and near. If any one who may wish to purchase will call upon the Editor of this paper, we will give him other items of information that will be of interest to him.

Larger Still.—We return our thanks to Maj. J. A. FIDLEY for the large potatoes received from him, one of which weighed seven pounds.

The Major informs us that the largest potato was the product of a slip from a yam that would not weigh more than half a pound, and thinks therefore it is not necessary to plant seed potatoes like Maj. Miller's, weighing from two to three pounds.

We copy with pleasure from a Richmond paper, the following complimentary notice of our former Countyman, Lieut. John Pelham, of the Wise Artillery. We learn also by a private letter, that this company is very much in need of some 25 or 30 recruits. The company now has four splendid guns, and as fine horses, harness, and equipments as any in the service; and so soon as the number of their company can be increased, two other guns, splendid rifled cannon, will be given to them by Gen. G. W. Smith. The names of those who may be willing to volunteer, can be given to Dr. A. Pelham of Alexandria, and free passes will be forwarded from there to Manassas.

We will also state here, that the present company are in need of blankets and clothing being mostly made up of citizens of Maryland and Washington, they of course cannot get aid from their friends in that direction. Those who are willing to aid them can deposit articles with Dr. P. at Alexandria or in this place, and they will be promptly forwarded.

THE WINE ARTILLERY.

Falsely in regard to this company, commanded by Capt. Alberts, found its way into New York Herald, and other Northern papers, some since it was stated that the company had been reduced to 22 men by desertion and sickness, and that two had died of small-pox. More palpable falsehoods were never uttered. The health of the company has been remarkably good, never having lost a man by death from sickness or any other cause. In the great battle of the 21st of July, in which the company played a prominent part, with a battery of four pieces, four of its members were slightly wounded, but they are all better than ever prepared for service. The company now numbers between 80 and 90 men, and has been supplied with a fine rifled cannon and other field pieces, left behind them by the Yankees at the battle of Manassas. It is justly regarded as amongst the most efficient companies of the artillery corps, for which it is greatly indebted to Lieut. John Pelham, of the Confederate Army, a young and chivalrous Alabamian who left West Point in May last, and who was assigned to duty in the Wise Artillery, which needs no higher eulogium than that of the President of the Southern Confederacy himself.

The company we know has many friends in this country. A number of blankets, we understand, are yet necessary to protect its members from the rigors of an approaching winter, and we hope they will be presented by those friends. We will take pleasure in securing the delivery of any left with us.

War Notice.

The Governor has by proclamation issued on the 22d inst., called for sixty companies of volunteers to serve for twelve months, unless sooner discharged. This has been done in view of the imminent danger with which our homes and our property is now threatened. For the purpose of filling this call the undersigned propose to make up a company. We therefore invite all who can and are willing to join us to do so. Whatever we do let us do speedily. Let it not be said that Calhoun is behind in supplying this urgent call for men and arms. If you have guns bring them. Those who have guns, but cannot get them put them into the hands of those who can use them. All who desire to join us will report to us immediately at Jacksonville. We want to organize the company in a few days, so that we can report ready for service.

"To arms! to arms!"

WYLY CARPENTER,

THOS. L. WAKELY.

Bennett, of the New York Herald, estimates the loss of the great Yankee fleet, in the gale which occurred soon after it sailed for the southern coast, at 29 vessels, being one third of the whole number. Bennett is not likely to have overestimated their loss. Had they lost this number in a battle, it would have been considered awfully disastrous.

The Yankees boast of having stolen negroes and cotton and rice sufficient to bear their expenses—how long will it take them to steal enough to counterbalance the eight or ten millions involved in the loss of these vessels?

Capt. D. P. FORNEY, arrived in our place Tuesday night from Fort Morgan. He reports every man of his company, the Calhoun Guards well when he left, and every thing quiet. He will return in a very short time.

An Urgent Call.

Necessity compels us to make an urgent and earnest call upon our patrons for help.

We did not, like most of the papers of the country, at the commencement of this war, adopt the cash system, but continued to send our paper to all who requested it, by mail or otherwise, where we had reason to believe them good, reposing implicit confidence in the uprightness of their intentions, and truth of their promises, to pay us in a few months. All through Spring, Summer and Autumn, we have labored faithfully and waited patiently for the fulfillment of these promises, until now our expenses have so accumulated, and our necessities are such as to compel us to make this earnest appeal. Shall it be made in vain? Will they leave us to disappointment, loss and neglect, as the reward of our generous confidence? We hope and believe not. Were the amounts from each large, it might be out of the power of many to meet them; but they are so small that it can seriously inconvenience any one, hard as the times are, to pay them.

We are now writing to "point a moral or a lesson," but to inform our patrons in all truth and candor, that we could not if we would, continue to furnish so large a number of papers, unless they furnish us with the means, by paying up their subscriptions. And if they fail to do this, we shall be compelled in a few weeks, to strike large numbers from our list, who owe for one or more years, and proceed to collect the amounts due, as best we can. In case we are compelled to do this, we beg of them to remember, that our terms have uniformly been published, two dollars within the year or three dollars after its expiration, which will be required. But we will here say to all, who owe for one or two more years, that two dollars per year will be received, up to the 1st day of January next.

It involves immense labor and expense to print and mail two thousand papers per week, but we will cheerfully undertake it all, if our patrons will act with justice and generosity towards us. Do not wait to have an account presented or sent, to see us personally or send by a friend, but at your earliest convenience, enclose by mail at our risk, about the amount you think due, and it shall be promptly credited, and in every case where requested, the receipt acknowledged in the paper.

Report of Ladies Relief Society.

At the last meeting of the Ladies Relief Society, we received the following report of Hospital Stores, sent in by our kind friends in the other valley. For this welcome donation, we return our grateful acknowledgments to the generous donors, and we would say to them, that the articles contributed will be packed and forwarded to the Alabama Hospital at Richmond as soon as possible. From Mrs. Mallory—we received, 1 comfort, 2 bags dried fruit, 3 bottles wine, 1 bottle brandy 1 bundle sage. Mrs. S. R. Borders—2 bushels Irish Potatoes, 2 bottles of wine. Mrs. J. M. Borders—2 pr drawers, 3 shirts, 1 bottle brandy, 1 comfort 1/2 gal. of honey, 1 bundle of sage and 1 of pepper. Mrs. S. A. Borders—1 1/2 bushels dried peaches, 1 1/2 bushels dried apples, 1 1/2 bushels of peas, 1 bundle of slippery elm, 1 bundle of pepper, 1 comfort, 1 bottle Castor Oil, 1 bottle Quinine, 1 box of mustard, 2 boxes of pills, 1 box Ointment, 1 bottle Liniment, 2 vials Bateman's drops, 1 bottle Godfrey's Cordial.

Mrs. J. E. Murphy—1 bottle spirits Turpentine, 5 boxes pills, 1 bottle of Quinine, 1 box of mustard, 1 box of Ointment.

Mrs. Cunningham—1 comfort, 1 pr. pillows, 1 pr. sheets, 1 bundle rags, 1 bag of fruit, 1 bottle Castor Oil, 1 bottle Turpentine, 1 box of mustard.

Mrs. F. E. Williams—2 bottles wine, 2 of cordial, 2 of Catsup, 1 bag of dried fruit, 1 box of mustard.

Miss Baum—1 comfort.

At the same time the Treasurer acknowledged the receipt of ten dollars from Messrs. Byers & Rowan, of Asheville. The work of our society is progressing. The women of our country have contributed, aside from the labor of weaving and sewing, more than one thousand dollars. They only wish they could multiply this by ten. Southern women, fully alive to the momentous interests involved in the present war, can not be idle. Our fathers, husbands, brothers and sons have forsaken the pleasant ease, and fond endearments of home, and have gone forth to endure the unavoidable hardships of camp-life; perhaps to lay down their lives in defence of our common cause. While they endure so much shall we do nothing? Shall we sit down calmly, around our glowing hearth-stones, and put forth no exertions, make no sacrifice for the noble soldier far away? Women of Calhoun! the cause for which they are battling is your cause; the rights for which they are contending are your rights. Then have you no offering to bring? Are there no privations to endure, no labor to undergo, for the sake of your country, your freedom your religion? You have now opportunities for endurance and action, that come but seldom in the history of nations. Then act, "act in the living present, heart within and God over head," show yourselves worthy your gallant defenders, worthy your own exalted land, worthy to be called daughters of Freedom. Let us enlist for the war. Not indeed, as soldiers to go forth to battle, and take our places in the ranks of armies, to direct the fatal bullet, or wield the warrior's sword. Such work belongs not to woman. Be it ours to strengthen the arm, and cheer the heart of our brave soldiery by using every energy in their behalf. Every motive that honor or patriotism could suggest bids us to be up and doing. Then let us come forward and cheerfully give our mite to aid in this struggle for Independence and right. Let not your energies flag, while though the finger aches, and the heart grows weary. "Darkness may continue for a season, but light cometh in the morning." Let us toil on unmindful of the dark clouds which overshadow our homes, and when the war is over, when the conflict is past, we may look back with grateful hearts upon our labors and sufferings, and joyfully exclaim. Though I had but the feeble arm of a woman, I had the soul of a patriot, and now I am enjoying the blessed fruits of my burdensome toil.

CARRIE WOODWATD, Sec'y.

WILLIAMSBURG, VA.,

Nov. 11th, 1861.

Dear "Republican."

It is with profound regret that I record the resignation of our Lt. Col. J. C. B. Mitchell. The resignation of no member of the Regt. would cause so much and so universal regret as that of Col. Mitchell. He has endeared himself to the 13th Regt. of Vol. by his unvaried zeal and energy, not only as an officer, but by his constant exertions in behalf of the sick and needy of those under his command. In many instances, in consequence of an imperfect organization of the Regt. being, as it has been, virtually minus of a Quarter Master and Commissary the most of the time, he has gone far beyond his legitimate sphere of action and rendered invaluable assistance to our men. A short experience in camp life has convinced me that it requires a great deal more to constitute an officer proper than the mere knowledge of military tactics. Much the larger number of men who are lost in army, die of disease. Col. Mitchell is none too proud to visit the Hospitals and tents to inquire after the condition, wants and necessities of his men and to act, as best he can to secure for them comfort, and ease, and quiet, of body and mind. This conduct goes a long way towards the recovery of the sick and distressed. I believe the above remarks will be endorsed by every man in the Regt. and especially by the privates who will ever hold the many kindly offices of the Col. in grateful remembrance.

Though no one regret the withdrawal of Col. Mitchell more than I, still I am highly gratified in being able to state, that it is his intention, on returning home to raise another Regiment immediately for the service; and in this connection I would beg leave to say, for the benefit of all concerned, that if there are any companies now organized, or in progress of formation, in Calhoun or any of the adjoining counties who desire to enter the service of the country and that under a man who has a full share of humanity about him I would advise such to report without delay to Col. Mitchell at Mt. Meigs Ala.

Since my last letter the weather has been remarkably clear the most of the time and the atmosphere pleasantly cool—just right for the season of year, which has been very beneficial to our sick. Troops are improving rapidly. All we need now, and it is what all seem to desire, is an engagement with Lincoln's minions to compel the cure in many cases now convalescent. I am perfectly satisfied that a fight soon would do more to invigorate and build up broken down constitutions, cheer up desponding spirits, caused by long suspense and deep anxiety, than all the phylax in this Division of the army. Since the ungrateful intelligence from Port Royal, notwithstanding the glorious tidings from Ky. our men have been restless and all anxiety. A few regiments I learn have gone down in the lower portion of the Peninsula—Black Republican Egypt—to gather corn. Probably kill "two birds with one stone." We will get the corn or a fight out of the Yankees and perhaps both. The 13 Regt. is now at Yorktown. I have just been informed.

Very truly, H. C. G.

history of nations. Then act, "act in the living present, heart within and God over head," show yourselves worthy your gallant defenders, worthy your own exalted land, worthy to be called daughters of Freedom. Let us enlist for the war. Not indeed, as soldiers to go forth to battle, and take our places in the ranks of armies, to direct the fatal bullet, or wield the warrior's sword. Such work belongs not to woman. Be it ours to strengthen the arm, and cheer the heart of our brave soldiery by using every energy in their behalf. Every motive that honor or patriotism could suggest bids us to be up and doing. Then let us come forward and cheerfully give our mite to aid in this struggle for Independence and right. Let not your energies flag, while though the finger aches, and the heart grows weary. "Darkness may continue for a season, but light cometh in the morning." Let us toil on unmindful of the dark clouds which overshadow our homes, and when the war is over, when the conflict is past, we may look back with grateful hearts upon our labors and sufferings, and joyfully exclaim. Though I had but the feeble arm of a woman, I had the soul of a patriot, and now I am enjoying the blessed fruits of my burdensome toil.

CAMP OF THE 10th ALA. REGT. (SEAR CENTREVILLE NOV. 10, '61.) I see in the Republican of the 7th inst. that you are again sealed in the editorial sanctum and ready to accommodate the readers of your excellent paper.—Since you started from my sundry incidents have occurred which may be interesting to you and your readers. Our Col. and Lt. Col. are again at their respective posts, and things move again in the same old channel. With our Col. every body is well pleased and Lt. Col. Martin has won for himself the esteem and love of every soldier of the 10th, and Calhoun may be proud in possessing a man who as a citizen, a lawyer, and a military officer cannot be excelled. Adjutant Martin has resigned his post and Lieut. Shelley has succeeded him in that office. Our Regt. has been twice on picket of late, and it seems the boys have a better relish for it, than camp life. There is more novelty attached to it; we move somewhat freer, and therefore its attraction. Yet when out on the last time, we tasted right smart of the bitter, or in other words we felt the dark side of a picket expedition. A heavy rain visited us and not being allowed to have a fire at night nor having any tents to shelter us from the inclemency of the weather, we got a thorough soaking. Jack frost has visited us several times during this and last month, and we have already a strong frost of a Virginia Winter. We have left our camp west of Oak Run and pitched our tents about 1 mile east from that point. The new oak and hickory thicket which hid our tents from view when we first moved there is now amongst the things that were and there are only stumps left to tell the tale of its existence. The health of our Regt. is good and everybody in fine spirits. Speaking of spirits reminds me of communicating another item, which is entirely new and hope as interesting to your readers as it is to their friends in the 10th. For some time it has been the custom to furnish us whiskey almost regular every morning; but not in sufficient quantities to effect the mind of any body. All keep sober and everybody attends the whiskey call with his tin cup; ready to receive the strengthening cordial and at once I saw some promising youth, in absence of such a vessel, make his appearance with a tin wash pan. Mr. Bush, our sutler, has at last arrived and opened a variety of goods suitable to the wants of the soldiers (no calico) and judging from the large crowds assembled at all times in front of his tent he is very liberally patronized. On the 5th inst. the Battle flag of the army of the Potomac was presented to our Regt. The P. W. G's. were selected to make the presentation, and performed the task in a very creditable manner.—The Band of the 2nd Ga. Regt. had been engaged for the occasion and enlivened the scene with appropriate and soul-stirring music.—When, whether known and we'll go into winter quarters I know not, and leave therefore your readers in the dark on that subject.—For the last few days the weather has been right severe on us, the wind blows furiously from the North. But necessarily, the mother of invention has put us to our studies and to work. We have found a remedy and nearly everybody has been busy for the last three days, in constructing little fire-places in our tents, which I can assure you keep us very warm, and thus add much to our comfort.—If any thing new and of importance turns up you'll hear from

HARBINGER.

Recruits for the Cavalry.

CAPT. BLAKEY will receive 25 or 30 more recruits for his company of Cavalry now in camp in Montgomery; any one wishing to join will communicate with Dr. Hughes at Ladoga, or will come to Oxford on Monday the 5th of December, prepared to go on the cars on Tuesday morning. An officer will be there ready to transport them through to Montgomery.

CAMP OF THE 10th ALA. REGT.

(SEAR CENTREVILLE NOV. 10, '61.)

I see in the Republican of the 7th inst. that you are again sealed in the editorial sanctum and ready to accommodate the readers of your excellent paper.—Since you started from my sundry incidents have occurred which may be interesting to you and your readers. Our Col. and Lt. Col. are again at their respective posts, and things move again in the same old channel. With our Col. every body is well pleased and Lt. Col. Martin has won for himself the esteem and love of every soldier of the 10th, and Calhoun may be proud in possessing a man who as a citizen, a lawyer, and a military officer cannot be excelled. Adjutant Martin has resigned his post and Lieut. Shelley has succeeded him in that office. Our Regt. has been twice on picket of late, and it seems the boys have a better relish for it, than camp life. There is more novelty attached to it; we move somewhat freer, and therefore its attraction. Yet when out on the last time, we tasted right smart of the bitter, or in other words we felt the dark side of a picket expedition. A heavy rain visited us and not being allowed to have a fire at night nor having any tents to shelter us from the inclemency of the weather, we got a thorough soaking. Jack frost has visited us several times during this and last month, and we have already a strong frost of a Virginia Winter. We have left our camp west of Oak Run and pitched our tents about 1 mile east from that point. The new oak and hickory thicket which hid our tents from view when we first moved there is now amongst the things that were and there are only stumps left to tell the tale of its existence. The health of our Regt. is good and everybody in fine spirits. Speaking of spirits reminds me of communicating another item, which is entirely new and hope as interesting to your readers as it is to their friends in the 10th. For some time it has been the custom to furnish us whiskey almost regular every morning; but not in sufficient quantities to effect the mind of any body. All keep sober and everybody attends the whiskey call with his tin cup; ready to receive the strengthening cordial and at once I saw some promising youth, in absence of such a vessel, make his appearance with a tin wash pan. Mr. Bush, our sutler, has at last arrived and opened a variety of goods suitable to the wants of the soldiers (no calico) and judging from the large crowds assembled at all times in front of his tent he is very liberally patronized. On the 5th inst. the Battle flag of the army of the Potomac was presented to our Regt. The P. W. G's. were selected to make the presentation, and performed the task in a very creditable manner.—The Band of the 2nd Ga. Regt. had been engaged for the occasion and enlivened the scene with appropriate and soul-stirring music.—When, whether known and we'll go into winter quarters I know not, and leave therefore your readers in the dark on that subject.—For the last few days the weather has been right severe on us, the wind blows furiously from the North. But necessarily, the mother of invention has put us to our studies and to work. We have found a remedy and nearly everybody has been busy for the last three days, in constructing little fire-places in our tents, which I can assure you keep us very warm, and thus add much to our comfort.—If any thing new and of importance turns up you'll hear from

HARBINGER.

Recruits for the Cavalry.

CAPT. BLAKEY will receive 25 or 30 more recruits for his company of Cavalry now in camp in Montgomery; any one wishing to join will communicate with Dr. Hughes at Ladoga, or will come to Oxford on Monday the 5th of December, prepared to go on the cars on Tuesday morning. An officer will be there ready to transport them through to Montgomery.

CAMP OF THE 10th ALA. REGT.

(SEAR CENTREVILLE NOV. 10, '61.)

I see in the Republican of the 7th inst. that you are again sealed in the editorial sanctum and ready to accommodate the readers of your excellent paper.—Since you started from my sundry incidents have occurred which may be interesting to you and your readers. Our Col. and Lt. Col. are again at their respective posts, and things move again in the same old channel. With our Col. every body is well pleased and Lt. Col. Martin has won for himself the esteem and love of every soldier of the 10th, and Calhoun may be proud in possessing a man who as a citizen, a lawyer, and a military officer cannot be excelled. Adjutant Martin has resigned his post and Lieut. Shelley has succeeded him in that office. Our Regt. has been twice on picket of late, and it seems the boys have a better relish for it, than camp life. There is more novelty attached to it; we move somewhat freer, and therefore its attraction. Yet when out on the last time, we tasted right smart of the bitter, or in other words we felt the dark side of a picket expedition. A heavy rain visited us and not being allowed to have a fire at night nor having any tents to shelter us from the inclemency of the weather, we got a thorough soaking. Jack frost has visited us several times during this and last month, and we have already a strong frost of a Virginia Winter. We have left our camp west of Oak Run and pitched our tents about 1 mile east from that point. The new oak and hickory thicket which hid our tents from view when we first moved there is now amongst the things that were and there are only stumps left to tell the tale of its existence. The health of our Regt. is good and everybody in fine spirits. Speaking of spirits reminds me of communicating another item, which is entirely new and hope as interesting to your readers as it is to their friends in the 10th. For some time it has been the custom to furnish us whiskey almost regular every morning; but not in sufficient quantities to effect the mind of any body. All keep sober and everybody attends the whiskey call with his tin cup; ready to receive the strengthening cordial and at once I saw some promising youth, in absence of such a vessel, make his appearance with a tin wash pan. Mr. Bush, our sutler, has at last arrived and opened a variety of goods suitable to the wants of the soldiers (no calico) and judging from the large crowds assembled at all times in front of his tent he is very liberally patronized. On the 5th inst. the Battle flag of the army of the Potomac was presented to our Regt. The P. W. G's. were selected to make the presentation, and performed the task in a very creditable manner.—The Band of the 2nd Ga. Regt. had been engaged for the occasion and enlivened the scene with appropriate and soul-stirring music.—When, whether known and we'll go into winter quarters I know not, and leave therefore your readers in the dark on that subject.—For the last few days the weather has been right severe on us, the wind blows furiously from the North. But necessarily, the mother of invention has put us to our studies and to work. We have found a remedy and nearly everybody has been busy for the last three days, in constructing little fire-places in our tents, which I can assure you keep us very warm, and thus add much to our comfort.—If any thing new and of importance turns up you'll hear from

HARBINGER.

Recruits for the Cavalry.

CAPT. BLAKEY will receive 25 or 30 more recruits for his company of Cavalry now in camp in Montgomery; any one wishing to join will communicate with Dr. Hughes at Ladoga, or will come to Oxford on Monday the 5th of December, prepared to go on the cars on Tuesday morning. An officer will be there ready to transport them through to Montgomery.

CAMP OF THE 10th ALA. REGT.

(SEAR CENTREVILLE NOV. 10, '61.)

I see in the Republican of the 7th inst. that you are again sealed in the editorial sanctum and ready to accommodate the readers of your excellent paper.—Since you started from my sundry incidents have occurred which may be interesting to you and your readers. Our Col. and Lt. Col. are again at their respective posts, and things move again in the same old channel. With our Col. every body is well pleased and Lt. Col. Martin has won for himself the esteem and love of every soldier of the 10th, and Calhoun may be proud in possessing a man who as a citizen, a lawyer, and a military officer cannot be excelled. Adjutant Martin has resigned his post and Lieut. Shelley has succeeded him in that office. Our Regt. has been twice on picket of late, and it seems the boys have a better relish for it, than camp life. There is more novelty attached to it; we move somewhat freer, and therefore its attraction. Yet when out on the last time, we tasted right smart of the bitter, or in other words we felt the dark side of a picket expedition. A heavy rain visited us and not being allowed to have a fire at night nor having any tents to shelter us from the inclemency of the weather, we got a thorough soaking. Jack frost has visited us several times during this and last month, and we have already a strong frost of a Virginia Winter. We have left our camp west of Oak Run and pitched our tents about 1 mile east from that point. The new oak and hickory thicket which hid our tents from view when we first moved there is now amongst the things that were and there are only stumps left to tell the tale of its existence. The health of our Regt. is good and everybody in fine spirits. Speaking of spirits reminds me of communicating another item, which is entirely new and hope as interesting to your readers as it is to their friends in the 10th. For some time it has been the custom to furnish us whiskey almost regular every morning; but not in sufficient quantities to effect the mind of any body. All keep sober and everybody attends the whiskey call with his tin cup; ready to receive the strengthening cordial and at once I saw some promising youth, in absence of such a vessel, make his appearance with a tin wash pan. Mr. Bush, our sutler, has at last arrived and opened a variety of goods suitable to the wants of the soldiers (no calico) and judging from the large crowds assembled at all times in front of his tent he is very liberally patronized. On the 5th inst. the Battle flag of the army of the Potomac was presented to our Regt. The P. W. G's. were selected to make the presentation, and performed the task in a very creditable manner.—The Band of the 2nd Ga. Regt. had been engaged for the occasion and enlivened the scene with appropriate and soul-stirring music.—When, whether known and we'll go into winter quarters I know not, and leave therefore your readers in the dark on that subject.—For the last few days the weather has been right severe on us, the wind blows furiously from the North. But necessarily, the mother of invention has put us to our studies and to work. We have found a remedy and nearly everybody has been busy for the last three days, in constructing little fire-places in our tents, which I can assure you keep us very warm, and thus add much to our comfort.—If any thing new and of importance turns up you'll hear from

HARBINGER.

Recruits for the Cavalry.

CAPT. BLAKEY will receive 25 or 30 more recruits for his company of Cavalry now in camp in Montgomery; any one wishing to join will communicate with Dr. Hughes at Ladoga, or will come to Oxford on Monday the 5th of December, prepared to go on the cars on Tuesday morning. An officer will be there ready to transport them through to Montgomery.

CAMP OF THE 10th ALA. REGT.

(SEAR CENTREVILLE NOV. 10, '61.)

I see in the Republican of the 7th inst. that you are again sealed in the editorial sanctum and ready to accommodate the readers of your excellent paper.—Since you started from my sundry incidents have occurred which may be interesting to you and your readers. Our Col. and Lt. Col. are again at their respective posts, and things move again in the same old channel. With our Col. every body is well pleased and Lt. Col. Martin has won for himself the esteem and love of every soldier of the 10th, and Calhoun may be proud in possessing a man who as a citizen, a lawyer, and a military officer cannot be excelled. Adjutant Martin has resigned his post and Lieut. Shelley has succeeded him in that office. Our Regt. has been twice on picket of late, and it seems the boys have a better relish for it, than camp life. There is more novelty attached to it; we move somewhat freer, and therefore its attraction. Yet when out on the last time, we tasted right smart of the bitter, or in other words we felt the dark side of a picket expedition. A heavy rain visited us and not being allowed to have a fire at night nor having any tents to shelter us from the inclemency of the weather, we got a thorough soaking. Jack frost has visited us several times during this and last month, and we have already a strong frost of a Virginia Winter. We have left our camp west of Oak Run and pitched our tents about 1 mile east from that point. The new oak and hickory thicket which hid our tents from view when we first moved there is now amongst the things that were and there are only stumps left to tell the tale of its existence. The health of our Regt. is good and everybody in fine spirits. Speaking of spirits reminds me of communicating another item, which is entirely new and hope as interesting to your readers as it is to their friends in the 10th. For some time it has been the custom to furnish us whiskey almost regular every morning; but not in sufficient quantities to effect the mind of any body. All keep sober and everybody attends the whiskey call with his tin cup; ready to receive the strengthening cordial and at once I saw some promising youth, in absence of such a vessel, make his appearance with a tin wash pan. Mr. Bush, our sutler, has at last arrived and opened a variety of goods suitable to the wants of the soldiers (no calico) and judging from the large crowds assembled at all times in front of his tent he is very liberally patronized. On the 5th inst. the Battle flag of the army of the Potomac was presented to our Regt. The P. W. G's. were selected to make the presentation, and performed the task in a very creditable manner.—The Band of the 2nd Ga. Regt. had been engaged for the occasion and enlivened the scene with appropriate and soul-stirring music.—When, whether known and we'll go into winter quarters I know not, and leave therefore your readers in the dark on that subject.—For the last few days the weather has been right severe on us, the wind blows furiously from the North. But necessarily, the mother of invention has put us to our studies and to work. We have found a remedy and nearly everybody has been busy for the last three days, in constructing little fire-places in our tents, which I can assure you keep us very warm, and thus add much to our comfort.—If any thing new and of importance turns up you'll hear from

HARBINGER.

Recruits for the Cavalry.

CAPT. BLAKEY will receive 25 or 30 more recruits for his company of Cavalry now in camp in Montgomery; any one wishing to join will communicate with Dr. Hughes at Ladoga, or will come to Oxford on Monday the 5th of December, prepared to go on the cars on Tuesday morning. An officer will be there ready to transport them through to Montgomery.

CAMP OF THE 10th ALA. REGT.

(SEAR CENTREVILLE NOV. 10, '61.)

I see in the Republican of the 7th inst. that you are again sealed in the editorial sanctum and ready to accommodate the readers of your excellent paper.—Since you started from my sundry incidents have occurred which may be interesting to you and your readers. Our Col. and Lt. Col. are again at their respective posts, and things move again in the same old channel. With our Col. every body is well pleased and Lt. Col. Martin has won for himself the esteem and love of every soldier of the 10th, and Calhoun may be proud in possessing a man who as a citizen, a lawyer, and a military officer cannot be excelled. Adjutant Martin has resigned his post and Lieut. Shelley has succeeded him in that office. Our Regt. has been twice on picket of late, and it seems the boys have a better relish for it, than camp life. There is more novelty attached to it; we move somewhat freer, and therefore its attraction. Yet when out on the last time, we tasted right smart of the bitter, or in other words we felt the dark side of a picket expedition. A heavy rain visited us and not being allowed to have a fire at night nor having any tents to shelter us from the inclemency of the weather, we got a thorough soaking. Jack frost has visited us several times during this and last month, and we have already a strong frost of a Virginia Winter. We have left our camp west of Oak Run and pitched our tents about 1 mile east from that point. The new oak and hickory thicket which hid our tents from view when we first moved there is now amongst the things that were and there are only stumps left to tell the tale of its existence. The health of our Regt. is good and everybody in fine spirits. Speaking of spirits reminds me of communicating another item, which is entirely new and hope as interesting to your readers as it is to their friends in the 10th. For some time it has been the custom to furnish us whiskey almost regular every morning; but not in sufficient quantities to effect the mind of any body. All keep sober and everybody attends the whiskey call with his tin cup; ready to receive the strengthening cordial and at once I saw some promising youth, in absence of such a vessel, make his appearance with a tin wash pan. Mr. Bush, our sutler, has at last arrived and opened a variety of goods suitable to the wants of the soldiers (no calico) and judging from the large crowds assembled at all times in front of his tent he is very liberally patronized. On the 5th inst. the Battle flag of the army of the Potomac

Schedule of Mills at Jacksonville
Post Office
NOTHERN MAIL
Daily, except Sundays, 8 A. M.
SOUTHERN MAIL
Daily, except Sundays, 3 P. M.
WESTERN MAIL
Daily, except Sundays, 6 P. M.
Office hours of a Sunday from 8 A. M. to 12 M. and 2 P. M. to 6 P. M.

Receipt List
Nov. 14, to Nov. 15
C. B. Jones, $2.00
D. B. Jones, $2.00
Diamond & Pines, $2.00
W. L. Jones, $2.00
W. L. Jones, $2.00
W. L. Jones, $2.00

LATEST NEWS.

Transmitted for the Selma Reporter
INTERESTING NEWS -

FROM VIRGINIA.

President's Message.

Brisk Skirmishing.

LATEST FROM THE CAROLINA COAST.

Kentucky News.

SMALL POX AMONG THE FEDERALS.

Movements of Troops.

Formation of a Provisional Government.

&c. &c. &c.

Richmond, Nov. 19.

President Davis, in his Message, reports an abundant agricultural yield during the past year, for which thanks are due Providence. New branches of industry have been sustained, the manufacturing of the comforts of life has increased as the war continues, and we are gradually becoming independent of the world in supplying our munitions.

Operations of the army will soon be interrupted by winter.

The soldiers who have offered protection to their country, are entitled to all praise and gratitude for their services and bravery.

The conflict now extends from the Chesapeake to the confines of Mexico and Arizona, and the Confederate States are much stronger now than when the war commenced.

The President refers to the result of the triumphs of our army and operations in Missouri and Kentucky, and the condition of the financial and other affairs.

He advises the completion of the Railroad route from Danville to Greenville, on the Charleston road, thus forming three lines to Richmond.

All idea of reconstruction has passed away, and our people shrink with aversion from the bare idea of renewing the connection.

The Federals not content with violating our rights under the law of nations, have extended their injuries to us within other jurisdictions; and the President refers to the capture of Mason and Slidell, on board a British steamer, on her way from neutral Spanish port to England—the Federals thus violating the rights of the Embassy, held sacred even among the barbarians.

The President concludes his Message thus: "While the war, which is waged to take from us the rights of self-government, can never attain that end, it pains to be seen how far it may work a revolution in the industrial system of the world, which may carry suffering to other lands, as well as our own. In the meantime, we should continue to strive for Providence, from whose searching scrutiny we cannot conceal the secrets of our hearts, and to whose rule we confidently submit our destinies. For the rest, we shall depend upon our own resources. Liberty is always won when there exists the unconquerable will to be free and we have reason to know the strength is given by a conscious sense of only the magnitude, but of the righteousness of our cause."

An address has been issued, calling on Sister States to send forward men and guns for the defense of the Mississippi Valley. The address states that the long threatened invasion is at hand. The enemies of our rights and liberties are moving upon us by land and water, in overwhelming numbers. In the next five days a great battle will be fought at Columbus. If we are overpowered, Memphis will be lost to the Southern cause. Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana help. Efforts in the surrounding States must look facts straight in the face, before it is too late.

Nashville, Nov. 21.
A special dispatch to the Union and American, says that the "Sovereignty Convention," at Russellville, Kentucky, has adjourned, after forming a Provisional Government. George W. Johnson was elected Governor, and Bowling Green selected as the Capital. H. O. Burnett, W. Preston and W. E. Semmes were appointed Commissioners to negotiate for the admission of the State into the Southern Confederacy.

The Knoxville Register, of yesterday, says that D. S. Patterson, Judge of the First Judiciary Circuit, in East Tennessee, and a son-in-law of Andrew Johnson, have been arrested—on the charge of treason, and taken to Knoxville for trial.

Richmond, Nov. 10.
A locomotive exploded near Central Depot this afternoon, killing Nathan Davis, Engineer, and a colored Fireman.

Savannah, Nov. 19.
The Republican of this morning, says that the Federals have made no forward movement since the capture of Fort Walker. From the best information, they have landed 3,000 men at Fort Walker, and 1,000 at Braddock's Point. Occasionally a few make Davis from Beaufort, and return at night.

The Yankees pressed a number of negroes into service, and set them to picking and ginning cotton.

Nashville, Nov. 18.
The Bowling Green correspondent of the Union & American says that a gentleman direct from Elizabethton, reports that the Federals, with a force of four thousand, were advancing on Bacon Creek.

The small pox, of a virulent type, and black measles, are raging at a fearful rate among the Federals at Muldrough's Hill. Large numbers of them are dying daily.

A portion of Hardee's forces, under the command of Col. Claiborne, were sent to break up the Federal Camp at Hopkinsville. They returned to Bowling Green on the 14th inst., and report that the Federals had departed two days before they arrived.

A special dispatch to the Union and American, dated Russellville, Ky., Nov. 10th, says that the "Sovereignty Convention" met this morning. Fifty-one counties were represented, and H. O. Burnett was chosen as President of the Provisional Government of Southern Kentucky, which will be certainly formed to-morrow. Geo. W. Johnson, of Scott county, will be appointed Governor.

The following is a special dispatch to the New York Herald:

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—A gentleman, occupying a high official position in Mexico, has just arrived here, and brings important information, which has been laid before the Government. It appears that the whole Western coast of Mexico and Sonora is greatly excited by the contemplated intervention of England, France and Spain in their affairs, and they have applied to the Federal Government to know whether or not it will sustain them against the intrigues of Spain.

Philadelphia, Nov. 12.
The Enquirer has a special dispatch stating that a privateer and two schooners in San Juan Inlet, were burned on the night of the 9th inst., by boats from Tuscarora.

Washington, Nov. 11.
A special dispatch to the New York Tribune, says that a person in citizens dress, with a pass from McClellan's headquarters, visited all the posts on the left wing of the Federal army, on Saturday and was recognized, on his return to Alexandria, as an officer of the rebel army.

From Montgomery.

Election of C. S. Senators.

Tennessee Legislature.

FROM MEMPHIS.

Action of Citizen's Meeting.

Overwhelming Number of Vandals Coming upon us by Land and Water!

Great Battle to be Fought in Five Days!

Appeal for Arms and Men!

Provisional Government of Kentucky.

FROM VIRGINIA.

&c. &c. &c.

Montgomery, Nov. 21.
Hons. William L. Yancy and Clement C. Clay, Jr., were elected by the Legislature to-day Confederate States Senators from Alabama. Yancy had no opposition. The ballot for the other Senator resulted as follows: Clay 66; Watts 53.

Nashville, Nov. 20.
The Tennessee Legislature to-day passed a law establishing a State Ordnance Bureau, and appropriating 300,000 for manufacturing arms. A bill was also passed authorizing the Governor to press into immediate service all suitable guns of the State.

Memphis, Nov. 20.
The Citizens' Meeting to-day resolved to send men and money to Columbus.

Richmond, Nov. 19.
Another skirmish occurred at Falls Church last evening. Our advanced forces took the prisoners, and killed five or six. Two of our cavalry were killed, and two or three wounded—one named Chickster. Other names not known.

Lynchburg, Va., Nov. 19.
The Lynchburg Republican publishes

States must look facts straight in the face, before it is too late.

Nashville, Nov. 21.
A special dispatch to the Union and American, says that the "Sovereignty Convention," at Russellville, Kentucky, has adjourned, after forming a Provisional Government. George W. Johnson was elected Governor, and Bowling Green selected as the Capital. H. O. Burnett, W. Preston and W. E. Semmes were appointed Commissioners to negotiate for the admission of the State into the Southern Confederacy.

The Knoxville Register, of yesterday, says that D. S. Patterson, Judge of the First Judiciary Circuit, in East Tennessee, and a son-in-law of Andrew Johnson, have been arrested—on the charge of treason, and taken to Knoxville for trial.

Richmond, Nov. 10.
A locomotive exploded near Central Depot this afternoon, killing Nathan Davis, Engineer, and a colored Fireman.

Savannah, Nov. 19.
The Republican of this morning, says that the Federals have made no forward movement since the capture of Fort Walker. From the best information, they have landed 3,000 men at Fort Walker, and 1,000 at Braddock's Point. Occasionally a few make Davis from Beaufort, and return at night.

The Yankees pressed a number of negroes into service, and set them to picking and ginning cotton.

Nashville, Nov. 18.
The Bowling Green correspondent of the Union & American says that a gentleman direct from Elizabethton, reports that the Federals, with a force of four thousand, were advancing on Bacon Creek.

The small pox, of a virulent type, and black measles, are raging at a fearful rate among the Federals at Muldrough's Hill. Large numbers of them are dying daily.

A portion of Hardee's forces, under the command of Col. Claiborne, were sent to break up the Federal Camp at Hopkinsville. They returned to Bowling Green on the 14th inst., and report that the Federals had departed two days before they arrived.

A special dispatch to the Union and American, dated Russellville, Ky., Nov. 10th, says that the "Sovereignty Convention" met this morning. Fifty-one counties were represented, and H. O. Burnett was chosen as President of the Provisional Government of Southern Kentucky, which will be certainly formed to-morrow. Geo. W. Johnson, of Scott county, will be appointed Governor.

The following is a special dispatch to the New York Herald:

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—A gentleman, occupying a high official position in Mexico, has just arrived here, and brings important information, which has been laid before the Government. It appears that the whole Western coast of Mexico and Sonora is greatly excited by the contemplated intervention of England, France and Spain in their affairs, and they have applied to the Federal Government to know whether or not it will sustain them against the intrigues of Spain.

Philadelphia, Nov. 12.
The Enquirer has a special dispatch stating that a privateer and two schooners in San Juan Inlet, were burned on the night of the 9th inst., by boats from Tuscarora.

Washington, Nov. 11.
A special dispatch to the New York Tribune, says that a person in citizens dress, with a pass from McClellan's headquarters, visited all the posts on the left wing of the Federal army, on Saturday and was recognized, on his return to Alexandria, as an officer of the rebel army.

From Montgomery.

Election of C. S. Senators.

Tennessee Legislature.

FROM MEMPHIS.

Action of Citizen's Meeting.

Overwhelming Number of Vandals Coming upon us by Land and Water!

Great Battle to be Fought in Five Days!

Appeal for Arms and Men!

Provisional Government of Kentucky.

FROM VIRGINIA.

&c. &c. &c.

Montgomery, Nov. 21.
Hons. William L. Yancy and Clement C. Clay, Jr., were elected by the Legislature to-day Confederate States Senators from Alabama. Yancy had no opposition. The ballot for the other Senator resulted as follows: Clay 66; Watts 53.

Nashville, Nov. 20.
The Tennessee Legislature to-day passed a law establishing a State Ordnance Bureau, and appropriating 300,000 for manufacturing arms. A bill was also passed authorizing the Governor to press into immediate service all suitable guns of the State.

Memphis, Nov. 20.
The Citizens' Meeting to-day resolved to send men and money to Columbus.

Richmond, Nov. 19.
Another skirmish occurred at Falls Church last evening. Our advanced forces took the prisoners, and killed five or six. Two of our cavalry were killed, and two or three wounded—one named Chickster. Other names not known.

Lynchburg, Va., Nov. 19.
The Lynchburg Republican publishes

OBITUARY.

Dr. at his residence in Calhoun County, on Friday the 22nd day of November, 1861, THOMAS R. MANSUM, in the 55th year of his age.

The deceased was a native of Georgia, and one of the first settlers of the Creek Indian territory of that State, extending to the Chattahoochee river. He made the first road into Leo, afterwards Stewart County, to a piece of land he drew in one of the Land Lotteries; and this road went for many years by the appellation of "Mangum's trace."

After the organization of Stewart county, he was elected and served acceptably and efficiently in the capacity of Clerk of the Superior and Inferior Courts of that County, for ten consecutive years. He afterwards removed to the Indian territory of what is now Russell County, Ala., previous to the Indian outbreak and war in 1857 and 1858.

He was a volunteer company during that time, followed the hostile Indians into Florida, and was in the battle of Chickasawhatchee Swamp, and for his services received a Land warrant. During the same troubles, his horses were burnt up and his stock destroyed by the Indians, and he escaped with his family and many others to Columbus in Georgia. For this loss, like many others, he died with just, but unliquidated claims against the old government. During his residence in the new parts of Georgia and this State, he encountered many of the perils and endured many of the hardships of a pioneer life. The deceased, about 23 years ago, professed religion and joined the Baptist Church, of which he remained a member up to the time of his death. He removed to the western portion of this county, about 13 years ago. He was a man of decided character, a warm and devoted friend and generous and forgiving to his enemies—a good and generous neighbor—a kind and affectionate husband and father.

At the commencement of our present difficulties, and the breaking out of the war, he warmly espoused the cause of the Southern Confederacy. During the last days of his life previous to his sickness, he experienced and manifested much anxiety for the success of the Southern cause; and the last act of a business character which he performed was to carry clothing to the soldiers at Fort Gaines, where he had two sons, volunteers. There he was taken with typhoid fever, started home while he will, got as far as the residence of Judge Thornton, in Talladega, having the assistance of an able physician, and attention of a kind family—supposing himself able to come home he did so, but died some ten days after. He leaves a wife and eight children and many friends and acquaintances, to mourn his loss; but they can adopt the language of the poet and say:

"The night dew that falls, though in silence it weeps,
Still brighten with verdure the grave where he sleeps,
And the tear that we shed, though in secret it rolls, Shall keep his memory green in our souls."

"I shall know the loved who have gone before,
And joyfully sweet will the meeting be,
When the loved will be with me,
The Angel of death shall carry me."

Died in Richmond Va., Nov. 34, 1861, Mr. Andrew J. White, member of Calhoun Sharp Shooters, commanded by Capt. Bush.

Circular Saws.

The undersigned respectfully informs all owners of Circular Saws, used in stumps or Water Mills, that in case their saws have been tipped or warped, he can straighten them perfectly and put them in gear, working order. They will find it a great convenience and economy to avail themselves of his services, as the blockade prevents them from supplying the places of these useless warped saws with new ones.

Address—J. L. RALTON, Civil Engineer, Oxford, Ala.
Nov. 21 1861.

NOTICE.

There will be a meeting of the members of Capt. John N. Robertson's company at Jacksonville Ala on Monday the 25th inst. for the purpose of electing the officers of the company. The company when organized will be attached to Col. W. B. McClellan's regiment, which is now at the Camp of Instruction at Auburn Ala. This regiment is formed for the Coast defense. A full attendance of the members is requested.

JOHN A. ROBERTSON,
Jacksonville Ala.
Nov. 21 1861.

POSTPONED Land Sale.

On Tuesday the 24th day of December, 1861, the Real Estate of section third, all of Township sixteen, and Range nine—East in the Coast Land District, all except the wide over, which is laid off, to include the South half of South half of section fourth, except Two acres, off the South end of said tract. Not bearing interest from date of sale, with at least two sufficient securities will be required.

M. J. TURNLEY,
Adm. &c.

At the same time and place,

I will sell at public outcry, to the highest bidder FOR CASH, the Real Estate of section third, all of Township sixteen, and Range nine—East in the Coast Land District, all except the wide over, which is laid off, to include the South half of South half of section fourth, except Two acres, off the South end of said tract. Not bearing interest from date of sale, with at least two sufficient securities will be required.

M. J. TURNLEY, Adm.

STEVENSON.

MOLASSES, SUGAR, SODA & SALT.

THE subscriber is receiving Molasses, half barrels, prime yellow at 50 cts—Sugar at 10 cts—Soda at 30 cts—and will receive WHEAT at $1.25 per bushel in exchange for the above articles, or pay the cash for any amount at the above prices.

Not at the above prices.

November 21, 1861.

NOTICE.

I have left my Constabulary establishment and business connected therewith in the hands of G. W. MANNING, during my absence in the Army.

H. GUTMAN.

June 29, 1861.

The State of Alabama, Calhoun County.

COURT OF PROBATE FOR SAID COUNTY, SPECIAL TERM, NOV. 20 & D. 1861.

THIS day came James Lawrence, Administrator of the Estate of J. W. Lawrence, deceased, and filed his account and vouchers for a final settlement of said estate.

It is ordered by the Court, that Monday the 26th day of December next, be set for examining said account and vouchers, and for settling said estate, and that notice thereof be given by publication in the Jacksonville Republican, a newspaper printed and published in the town of Jacksonville, in said County, for three successive weeks prior to said day, by a notice to all persons concerned to be and appear at a Regular Term of said court to be holden at the court house of said County on said Monday, the 26th day of December next, and contest said settlement if they think proper.

Witness, A. WOODS, Judge of said Court for Calhoun County, at office in the Town of Jacksonville on this the 20th day of Nov. A. D. 1861.

A. WOODS, Judge Nov. 14th, 1861—3d. of Probate.

Notice.

I will attend at the times and places mentioned below, for the purpose of collecting the Tax for the year 1861.

Nov. 10 1861

Nov. 11 1861

Nov. 12 1861

Nov. 13 1861

Nov. 14 1861

Nov. 15 1861

Nov. 16 1861

Nov. 17 1861

Nov. 18 1861

Nov. 19 1861

Nov. 20 1861

Nov. 21 1861

Nov. 22 1861

Nov. 23 1861

Nov. 24 1861

Nov. 25 1861

Nov. 26 1861

Nov. 27 1861

Nov. 28 1861

Nov. 29 1861

Nov. 30 1861

Nov. 31 1861

Nov. 32 1861

Nov. 33 1861

Nov. 34 1861

Nov. 35 1861

Nov. 36 1861

Nov. 37 1861

Nov. 38 1861

Nov. 39 1861

Nov. 40 1861

Nov. 41 1861

Nov. 42 1861

Nov. 43 1861

Nov. 44 1861

Nov. 45 1861

Nov. 46 1861

Nov. 47 1861

NEW DRUG STORE,

No. 3; Choice Hotel, Rome, Ga.

The undersigned, would respectfully inform Physicians, Merchants, Planters and the public generally, that he is opening a VERY LARGE STOCK OF DRUGS, MEDICINES, CHEMICALS, PAINTS AND OILS, of all kinds, Glass, Varnishes, & Patent Medicines.

GRASS & CLOVER SEEDS will be on hand by the 15th, of September, in fact every thing and a few more, that is usually kept in Drug Establishments, which he offers at Charleston prices, (with freight and expense added), at wholesale and will compete with any House, south or north. Having made arrangements with one of the most successful importers, he is prepared to sell such at manufacturers' prices, with freight at wholesale. All are invited to give him one trial.

Rome, Ga. Nov. 21, 1860—16.

P. L. TURNLEY.

FRESH ARRIVAL.

FROM NEW ORLEANS.

AUGUST MEYERS, takes pleasure in informing the citizens of Jacksonville and Calhoun County, that he has received a nice stock of—

MERCHANDISE,

CONSISTING OF CALICOES, FINEST DRAWERS, UNDER SHIRTS, MILITARY BUTTONS, and a great variety of articles too tedious to mention, which he will sell at reasonable prices, for cash only.

He invites all his customers, and friends to call at his Store and examine for themselves, thanking them for the patronage heretofore extended, he solicits a continuance of the same.

JEANS and WOOLLEN SOCKS taken in exchange for Goods.

Jacksonville, Nov. 7, 1861.

At Rules before the Register for the 30th June Jennings, Chancery Dist., Monday the 21st day of Oct. 1861.

This day came the complaint by his Son, Richard Whitley, Ellis, and moved for an order, that the said Register, do issue a writ of Habeas Corpus, for the said Richard Whitley, Ellis, and Register for the 25th Chancery District, for an order of publication against June Jennings as a non resident.

And it appearing to the satisfaction of the Register, that the said Ellis, and moved for an order, that the said Register, do issue a writ of Habeas Corpus, for the said Richard Whitley, Ellis, and Register for the 25th Chancery District, for an order of publication against June Jennings as a non resident.

And it appearing to the satisfaction of the Register, that the said Ellis, and moved for an order, that the said Register, do issue a writ of Habeas Corpus, for the said Richard Whitley, Ellis, and Register for the 25th Chancery District, for an order of publication against June Jennings as a non resident.

And it appearing to the satisfaction of the Register, that the said Ellis, and moved for an order, that the said Register, do issue a writ of Habeas Corpus, for the said Richard Whitley, Ellis, and Register for the 25th Chancery District, for an order of publication against June Jennings as a non resident.

And it appearing to the satisfaction of the Register, that the said Ellis, and moved for an order, that the said Register, do issue a writ of Habeas Corpus, for the said Richard Whitley, Ellis, and Register for the 25th Chancery District, for an order of publication against June Jennings as a non resident.

And it appearing to the satisfaction of the Register, that the said Ellis, and moved for an order, that the said Register, do issue a writ of Habeas Corpus, for the said Richard Whitley, Ellis, and Register for the 25th Chancery District, for an order of publication against June Jennings as a non resident.

And it appearing to the satisfaction of the Register, that the said Ellis, and moved for an order, that the said Register, do issue a writ of Habeas Corpus, for the said Richard Whitley, Ellis, and Register for the 25th Chancery District, for an order of publication against June Jennings as a non resident.

And it appearing to the satisfaction of the Register, that the said Ellis, and moved for an order, that the said Register, do issue a writ of Habeas Corpus, for the said Richard Whitley, Ellis, and Register for the 25th Chancery District, for an order of publication against June Jennings as a non resident.

And it appearing to the satisfaction of the Register, that the said Ellis, and moved for an order, that the said Register, do issue a writ of Habeas Corpus, for the said Richard Whitley, Ellis, and Register for the 25th Chancery District, for an order of publication against June Jennings as a non resident.

And it appearing to the satisfaction of the Register, that the said Ellis, and moved for an order, that the said Register, do issue a writ of Habeas Corpus, for the said Richard Whitley, Ellis, and Register for the 25th Chancery District, for an order of publication against June Jennings as a non resident.

And it appearing to the satisfaction of the Register, that the said Ellis, and moved for an order, that the said Register, do issue a writ of Habeas Corpus, for the said Richard Whitley, Ellis, and Register for the 25th Chancery District, for an order of publication against June Jennings as a non resident.

And it appearing to the satisfaction of the Register, that the said Ellis, and moved for an order, that the said Register, do issue a writ of Habeas Corpus, for the said Richard Whitley, Ellis, and Register for the 25th Chancery District, for an order of publication against June Jennings as a non resident.

And it

Surgeon Dentist, Oxford, Ala.

S. C. KELLY, Esq. of said Estate understood, that they are settled here and are determined to stay. Dec. 23, '00.

JACOB W. WISENANT.
Nov. 11, 1861. -H.

Military clothing cut with neatness and dispatch.

the highest market price, will be paid, in change for goods at the Brickcorner.

Call on M. J. TIDWELL
Jacks,ville, Ala., May 9, 1961

